MOB VOWS REVENGE WHEN MILITIA GOES

Smoldering Fires of Race Hatred in Springfield Only Held in Check by Troops.

NEGROES ARE DESERTING HOMES BY THOUSANDS

Governor Deneen Shows Stern Determination to Preserve Order and Punish Ringleaders of Mob—Issues Unheeded Appeal to Colored Citizens to Remain in City—Many Leaders of Rioters Are Arrested.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Aug. 17.—Following the addition of two victims to the death list, sporadic outbursts of lawlessness in various parts of the city and increased symptoms generally that the mob spirit still rules Springfield, Governor Deneen tonight issued six proclamations offering rewards aggregating $1,200, for the arrest and conviction of the murderers of the riot victims. The death list now numbers seven but since one death was due only indirectly to the disturbances, no official notice has been taken of it.

Governor Deneen also issued an address to the citizens of Springfield as follows:

"A special grand jury was called today by James A. Creighton, to convene tomorrow at 1 30 o'clock for the purpose of conducting an investigation into the crimes which occurred here on Friday, Saturday and Sunday last.

"All evidence relating to these crimes should be presented to the grand jury at once and I urge upon all good citizens of this city to present such evidence as they may have or information which they may possess or acquire to Frank Hatch, state's attorney of Sangamon county, or to Gen. Edward C. Young, in charge of the military forces here, regarding any crimes which have been committed during that time.

"It is the duty of citizens to so do and in view of the extraordinary crimes which have occurred in the city of Springfield during the time mentioned, every good citizen should exert himself to see that their perpetrators and those who aided, abetted, advised or encouraged their perpetration are brought to speedy justice.

(Signed) "CHARLES S. DENEEN,
"Governor of Illinois."

The two new victims today were J. W. Scott and a 3-weeks-old negro girl, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Paine of Springfield. The baby succumbed to exposure when its parent started to walk from Springfield to Pittsfield in an effort to avoid persecution. Scott died in a hospital of wounds received Friday night.

Scattered sections of the city were in an uproar at different times during the early part of the night.

Harvard park was again the storm center, twice patrols were fired upon in that vicinity, but in neither case was anyone injured. This is the section to which troops were called last night by similar occurrences.

Over in the western end of town, in the vicinity of the state house and arsenal, there were several cases of revolver firing by rowdies.

Troopers Fired Upon.

A second attack was made on the militia from ambush from Fourteenth and Edwards streets at midnight. Lieutenant Case and two privates of company A, Fourth infantry, were fired upon, the bullets kicking up the dust at their feet. Company E of the First infantry was sent to the place, and as this detachment was about to return to headquarters, another shot was fired, the missile striking the scabbard of Lieutenant Ridgeway. No one was injured and no arrests were made.

Two privates of company D, Fifth infantry of Bloomington, Earl Ashley and Guy Duncan, were fired upon at 11 45 o'clock from ambush.

They were not hit. The attack occurred at Fifteenth and Edwards streets. Two troops of the First cavalry were ordered to the place to make arrests if possible. Shots were heard from other points in the vicinity.

Five men were arrested at Eighth and Ash streets.

The marauders traveled in groups of two and three, obeying the orders of the militia patrols to keep moving, but as soon as they were well past the groups of soldiers, they drew revolvers, fired into the air and fled down side streets, escaping in the darkness.

Two small arrests, apparently not connected with the rioting, added to the excitement and served to frighten the timid residents. As a consequence calls for troops were frequent and the militia had a hard night.

Negro Is Chased.

Thomas Richardson, a brother of the negro accused of attacking Mrs. Mabel Hallam, fled to Mississippi tonight after he had been attacked by white men in Harvard park. Tom Richardson was a teamster, and when attacked he jumped from his wagon, leaving the horses standing in the street, went to the railroad station and boarded a train for the south. Later in the evening two other brothers, James and William, both of whom had been inmates of the Jacksonville asylum for the insane, were arrested. The two negroes were acting strangely and were placed in jail for safe keeping.

Because of the renewal of disturbances Mayor Reece has canceled a permit for a performance of a circus scheduled for tomorrow.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Aug. 17.—One more victim was added to the death list of the Springfield mob when G. W. Scott succumbed to a gunshot wound in the lungs, received Friday night.

Scott's death brings the total to six and is the fourth chargeable to the disa crowd of negroes on Friday night. Bowe's friends have warned the authorities that "Billy" will be avenged and his death will cause a redoubling

ZIEGLER'S VICTIM IS NOTED GAMBLER

DEAD MAN IDENDIFIED AS DAVE FARLEY.

Mystery Surrounding Tragedy in Colonial Rooming House Baffles Denver Police.

DENVER, Aug. 17.—After having lain in the morgue since Thursday night without a clew to identity the body of the stranger slain in the Colonial hotel Thursday night by George E. Ziegler, a sure-thing gambler of Colorado City, was this afternoon identified as that of Dave Farley, also a sure-thing gambler, well known throughout the southwest.

The identification was made by J. L. Coppers, residing at 3447 Blake street, who conducts a poolroom in that vicinity.

Coppers was formerly an engineer on the Santa Fe, and in 1901-02 he ran out of Las Vegas, N. M. When he called at the morgue this morning, merely out of curiosity, he at once identified the body of Ziegler's victim as that of Farley, whom he knew well in Las Vegas. Coppers was positive in his identification, but when questioned closely admitted that because of a defect of one eye, he might be mistaken. However, he insisted that he was correct in his identification, and referred Chief of Police Armstrong to a Rio Grande engineer named Ginter to substantiate the identification. The police are now endeavoring to locate Ginter, and if he should identify the dead man as Farley the police may be able to support their theory that the killing was not perpetrated by Ziegler

COUNTS HIS STEPS DOWN PIKES PEAK

TOURIST TAKES 16,400 PACES TO MAKE TRIP.

Prof. M. K. McKay of Sunbury, Ohio, Furnishes Interesting Information About Famous Mountain.

There are exactly 16,400 paces of average length from the summit of Pikes Peak to the Manitou depot of the Cog road, and 11,675 paces from the top of the Peak to the Halfway house, according to careful count made by Professor M. K. McKay of Sunbury, O., during a descent of the mountain on August 13.

Dr McKay, who spent several days visiting in the Pikes Peak region, became curious as to the number of ordinary steps it would require to go up the Peak. He started to count his steps on the way up, but soon found that it required all his attention to perform the difficult task of walking to the summit. He therefore postponed his count until the return trip.

So far as known this is the first time a count has been made of the number of paces it take to make the trip down the famous mountain.

TAFT WILL SPEAK AS NEED ARISES

HAS NO SET PROGRAM FOR CAMPAIGN.

Has Placed Himself on Record on All Large Issues, but Will Address Delegations.

HOT SPRINGS, Va., Aug. 17.—Discussing today the character of speeches he is to make during the campaign, Judge Taft said he believed that he had placed himself on record in the speeches he had already made on every question likely to become important in the campaign.

"But," he added, 'that will not preclude me from taking up any subject and enlarging on it in the speeches I shall make to the various delegations who may come to Cincinnati during the campaign. My subjects will be chosen with particular reference to the interests and character of the particular delegation to whom I shall speak. In this way it is possible that I shall review many of the important and minor issues, but I have laid out no set plan for taking up in any particular order, any question or set of question."

Mr. Taft's speech to the Virginians here Friday has engaged his attention to a considerable extent today. Dr C. A L. Reed of Cincinnati, who is a candidate for the United States Senate and a personal friend of Mr. Taft, came here today on business of a personal nature with the candidate. Before leaving, Dr. Reed expressed the belief that a great majority of the physicians of the country favored the candidacy of Mr. Taft. The record of Mr. Taft in the Philippines and in Panama, so far as the medical profession is concerned, Dr. Reed said, was the cause of this feeling of friendliness.

There was a conference today between John Hays Hammond and Herbert M. Myers, a Columbus, Ohio, attorney, who is president of the Ohio Republican College league, which is affiliated with the National Republican College league.

A general plan of co-operation was discussed. "It is our intention," said Mr. Myers, 'to organize Republican clubs in every college and university in the country. We expect to reach 25,000 first voters in the course of the campaign."

ARREST W. F. OF M. OFFICIAL

Charges Made Against Fred Yockey and Allies of Plotting to Blow Up Mine.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Aug. 17.—The arrest by private detectives in this city yesterday of Fred Yockey, vice president of Union No 44 of the Western Federation of Miners at Randsburg, Cal., on the charge of conspiring to blow up the Yellow Aster Gold mine with dynamite, has developed a complicated situation. Yockey was arrested, it is said, on complaint of Mrs. Alice G Clark, a detective working for a detective agency, retained by the Yellow Aster Mining company to secure certain evidence. According to published stories, Mrs. Clark now charges that all of the accusations against Yockey are false and says that she was compelled to swear to the lies by another detective, who forced her to sign the statement at the point of a pistol. The whole plot she avers, was an effort to break up the miners union at Randsburg.

"The evidence trumped against me is just like the evidence that was made to order for the prosecution of Moyer, Haywood and Pettibone," said Yockey. "It is a parallel case exactly. There was not anything doing up in the Randsburg country, and some detectives simply worked out a plan to make business good. I do not take much stock in the story of the company that it was being robbed of rich ore. Nothing to that that I know of. There had not been a strike against the Yellow Aster since 1903, but of course it is not friendly with the union.

"It is true that I was vice president of the union at Randsburg, but I resigned that office a short time ago and left the mines."

FAIRVIEW, LINCOLN, Aug. 17.—The most important happening at Fairview today was the emphatic denial by William J Bryan to a story printed in Pittsburg this morning that he "had sold out" to the Kerr faction of the Pennsylvania Democracy in order to accomplish the defeat of Colonel James M. Guffey for national committeeman. The price alleged to figure in the transaction was $200,000 as a campaign contribution. The charge is said to have been made that Mr. Bryan "made good," but that Mr Kerr and his supporters had not come forward with the money. Mr. Bryan declared that he

WALSH MAY BUILD ROAD TO SPRINGS

ELECTRIC LINE IS CONTEMPLATED, SAYS REPORT.

Officers of Local Street Car Company Deny Connection With Enterprise.

Reports from Denver are to the effect that an electric railroad from Denver to Colorado Springs, with Thomas F. Walsh as one of the backers, is under contemplation. The promoters, it is said, have gone so far as to complete all plans, including a careful survey, and that construction work will soon begin.

The road, according to the report, will be by way of South Platte, near the entrance to Platte canon, and is an entirely separate enterprise from the Denver and South Platte railway, which, as announced in The Gazette a few weeks ago, is to be constructed to Roxbury Park, in Douglas county, and thence, in all probability, to Colorado Springs.

The Colorado Springs and Interurban Railway company is said to be interested in the deal, but both President A. G. Sharp and Secretary W. A. Dorl last night denied all knowledge of the rumored project.

SHERMAN RECEIVES NOTIFICATION TODAY

UTICA DECORATED IN HONOR OF CANDIDATE.

At Conclusion of Ceremony Committee Will Be Entertained by Vice Presidential Nominee.

UTICA, N. Y., Aug. 17.—Representative James S Sherman at noon tomorrow will formally be notified of his nomination for the vice presidency at the Chicago convention last June, and the final ceremonies of officially placing the Republican national ticket before the people will have been completed. The notification will be made the occasion of a general holiday and the residents of the city, irrespective of politics have been invited and are expected to take part in the tribute to a fellow townsman. It is predicted that many thousands of visitors will be in the city.

Threatening weather has caused an alternative program to be arranged for the ceremonies. With fair weather Mr. Sherman will accept the nomination tendered him from a flag-draped stand in front of his home in Genesee street. In the event of rain the notification will take place in the Majestic theater. Heavy showers today took much of the crispness out of the elaborate decorations that are everywhere in evidence.

Genesee street, especially in the downtown section, to the Sherman residence, is a mass of waving colors.

Several of the notification committee appointed at the convention arrived in the city today, and an advance guard of visitors also was in evidence. Mr. Sherman received the committeemen during the afternoon. Tomorrow he will entertain them at luncheon in his home here following the exercises, and in the evening will again be their host at dinner at the Yahnundasis Golf club.

The day will begin with a vice presidential salute of 19 guns fired at 7 a. m. There will follow a parade of the city police and fire departments, and at 11 o'clock the members of the notification committee will be escorted either to the Sherman residence or the theater, according to the weather conditions. A combined band of 110 pieces, gathered from neighboring cities, will be at the head of the column of automobiles.

MRS. KENYON DIES AGED 82

Noted Philanthropist of New York, Mother of J. S. Kenyon of This City, Passes Away.

Special to The Gazette.

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—Charlotte Goodrich Kenyon, noted local philanthropist and charity worker, widow of the late Joseph Kenyon, a wealthy sheep ranch owner of Colorado, who died there in 1882, and mother of Joseph Kenyon, Jr., of Colorado Springs, died today of old age at the home of her daughter, Mrs Walter H. Fitzgerald, 423 Classon avenue, Brooklyn, aged 82.

She was born at Portland, Maine, and was an active assistant of Dr Gallaudet in establishing institutions for the aid of deaf mutes. She was also active in various charities. Her first husband was Henry M Cone, a prominent merchant of Brooklyn.

Culprit's Wife Spends Day With Mrs. Annis, Who Claims Her Husband Received Many Letters From Hains Threatening His Life.

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—Of far more interest than the formal arraignment in a police court today of Captain Peter C. Hains, Jr., who shot and killed William F. Annis, advertising manager of a magazine, on Saturday at the Bayside Yacht club landing, while his brother, T. Jenkins Hains, held at bay a crowd of yachtsmen who sought to prevent the tragedy, was evidence which came into the hands of District Attorney Darrin, bearing upon the motive for the shooting.

It was established that Captain Hains and Mr. Annis were on such friendly terms that they went automobiling together as recently as May 29, last. Two women were in the party, and the police believe the women were Mrs. Hains and Mrs. Annis. A motorcycle policeman arrested the party for speeding on Ocean Parkway. The case was postponed in court, and is still on the calendar.

The party was in Mr. Annis' automobile, and the police held Annis in $100 bail. Annis only had $20, so the police were about to lock him up, when Captain Hains stepped forward and handed the prisoner four $20 gold pieces, thus obtaining his release.

Charges Brother as Accessory.

I have also been told by friends of both Captain Hains and Mr. Annis that this friendship ceased after a talk Captain Hains had with his brother, T. Jenkins Hains," said the district attorney. "I intend to have T. Jenkins tried as an accessory before and during the fact, as I believe he is as guilty as his brother. It was a letter to Captain Hains that made the latter hurry home from the Philippines and question his wife regarding her alleged conduct with Mr. Annis, and it was T. Jenkins Hains who prevented anyone from stopping Captains Hains from shooting Mr. Annis."

Another remarkable feature of the case is the friendship which exists between Mrs Annis and Mrs Claudie Hains Captain Hains' wife. Mrs Hains called upon Mrs Annis yesterday afternoon, it was learned today, and remained with her until nearly midnight. Mrs. Annis who witnessed the shooting of her husband, has been prostrated since the tragedy. It is said she has several letters written by Captain Hains to her husband, threatening his life.

One of these letters, it is said was received by Mr. Annis the day before he was shot. The letter warned him, it is reported, that Captain Hains would shoot him on sight. Mrs Annis says that she does not believe Captain Hains intended to shoot her husband,

HEAD OF CORNELL STRONG FOR HUGHES

PRESIDENT SCHURMAN WARNS POLITICIANS.

Says if They Turn Down Governor the State May Easily Be Lost for Taft.

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—In reply to newspaper comment and inquiries about his attitude toward the Republican nomination for governor, in connection with which his name has been mentioned, President Jacob G Schurman of Cornell university furnished a statement today in which he says:

"In my judgment there is only one man for the Republican party to nominate for governor this year, and that man is Charles E. Hughes."

After reviewing Governor Hughes' administration, President Schurman alludes to the opposition to his renomination on the part of certain leaders in the state and says:

"If they are sagacious politicians they will consider not their own injured feelings, but the character of the political forces by which the results of the election are to be determined. So doing they will perceive that to reject Governor Hughes in favor of any other person whatever, would be to repudiate the reform policies to which the Republican party not only in New York state, but, thanks to President Roosevelt, throughout the Union, is today committed, and this great betrayal would provoke resentment and indignation that might easily cause Mr Taft the loss of the electoral vote of New York, to say nothing of its effect on the [illegible] doubtful states in which Republicans are vigorously demanding reform and opposing reaction."

Y. M. C. A. CLUB VERSUS SALOON

CANAL WORKERS GIVEN RATIONAL AMUSEMENTS.

DRAM SHOPS LOSE PATRONAGE

GOETHALS SAW WISDOM OF PROPER ENTERTAINMENT.

SOCIAL LIFE IS ATTRACTIVE

Splendid Work Done by Young Men's Christian Association Is Supplemented by Night Schools, Sports and Society Functions.

By Frederic J. Haskin.

CULEBRA, Canal Zone, Aug. 19.—"The principal drawback we are now experiencing in the building of the canal is the lack of rational amusements for the people." In these words, Colonel Goethals, the chairman and chief engineer of the canal, summed up the situation with reference to the entertainment of the canal employes. He added that Congress had been asked to provide additional club houses and funds for this purpose, but that it had seen fit to ignore the demand.

It does not take one long to discover the truth of the assertion of Colonel Goethals for himself. At Cristobal Gorgona, Empire, and Culebra they have Y. M. C. A. club houses. Wherever these are, they have become the dominant factor in the social side of [illegible] entertainment for the people. Next to one American settlement that has a club house, there are three that have none. In the towns where there are no club houses, about the only thing the men can do is to go to the nearest saloon and drink bad liquor. And this they usually do. In the four towns where the Y. M. C. A. club houses are located, bar room receipts fall off about seventy-five per cent within a short time after the club houses were opened. Before the club houses were built the saloon was the only [illegible] ing place available. The [illegible] canal commission hotels had to [illegible] the offices were closed after [illegible] hours, and men being grossly [illegible] tures and wanting to [illegible] table, went perforce. [illegible] drinking places. It made no difference that the beer was flat and cost twenty-five cents per bottle, or that the whisky was bad and cost fifteen cents for a good sized thimbleful of it. Neither did it make any difference that no chairs or tables were allowed in the places. Even at the cost of standing up half the night they would meet to talk matters over.

Good List of Attractions.

When the Young Men's Christian association rooms were opened, practically men were placed at their head. One would not think of card playing and dancing at a Young Men's Christian association in the States, but both are to be found in association homes on the Isthmus. Bowling alleys billiard rooms, gymnasiums and many other places for entertainment were established in the buildings. Bowling teams were organized, billiard and pool contests were started, gymnastic instruction was given, pleasant reading rooms with a complete supply of leading newspapers and periodicals together with a large array of trade journals were provided, soda fountains were established, and, in general, the places were made more attractive than any other spot in the town.

The result has been the practical desertion of the saloons. The bowling alleys are busy every evening and some of the most spirited contests ever witnessed may be seen on these alleys. There are a number of teams in each Young Men's Christian association town, and these usually settle their own little contests and then tackle the champions from the other towns. There is something doing when these championship games are rolled. In the course of a single month there are Comparison Between Taft and Opponent Is Drawn by Congressman Burke of Pennsylvania.

NEW SALEM, Ill., Aug 17.—Congressman James Francis Burke of Pittsburg delivered an address at a "Republican Day" celebration here today on the "Powers of the President." He spoke in part:

"The American people can make no greater mistake than to elect Mr. Bryan on the assumption that he can do no harm in the face of a Republican Senate.

"As between the executive and legislative departments of the government the former has a right [illegible] to rule and rule than the latter.

of vigilance by the troop commanders. "Wait until the troops go" is the word that has been passed around town and, recognizing the strength of the undercurrent, the state, city and county officials are taxing every effort to turn public opinion toward law and order.

Governor in Conference.

To that end Governor Deneen has been in conference with officials of various civic bodies, including the Chamber of Commerce, the Springfield Bar association and the Evangelical Ministers association. Evidence is not lacking that many citizens who were known to have important testimony regarding order in the "Black Belt," near Twelfth and Madison streets, It was here that the hunted negroes made their stand, firing upon the heads of the mob from windows and roofs. Another death is expected momentarily. W. H. Bowe, chief clerk in the county treasurer's office and one of the most popular citizens of Springfield, is slowly sinking from the effects of the bullet wounds and the beating which he received from the mob and its leaders have been deterred from offering this to the state's attorney because of threats of violence made against them anonymously.

The riot could scarcely have been avoided and it not in itself a disgrace to the city. The real disgrace will come if the guilty are allowed to escape" is the slogan of the authorities now. So the civic bodies are asked to urge all good citizens to reveal freely whatever testimony they may possess. Only sheer weight of evidence is likely to break through the local prejudice here and assure convictions, according to the police and other officials. The gathering of evidence began in earnest today. Policemen in plain clothes were sent to search the houses of prisoners and suspects, and as a result the police station looked like a general store tonight. Groceries, hardware, men's, boys' and women's clothing; dry goods and shoes were recovered in great quantities, most of them bearing the price tags of the looted business houses.

Many Arrests Made.

Naturally many arrests followed. Eighty prisoners were crowded into the small cell room at the police station, the lack of comfort being such that only the cement floor is available for sleeping space.

"That will take some of the rioting out of them," was the comment of one policeman.

Five of the arrests made today are considered as important by the police. It was in the homes of these men that most of the loot was found. A sixth person is being sought by the police, who say that when he is arrested practically all of the ringleaders of the mob will be in custody.

"We have the thugs on the run," said Evans Jones, chief of detectives, here, and he added that many suspects are leaving town to avoid arrest.

Roy Young, one of the prisoners taken yesterday, has confessed to starting a number of fires, the police say. Young, who is 22 years old, came here from Missouri about a month ago. A search of his rooms at 216 North Seventh street revealed a quantity of overalls, shoes, boys' shirts and other articles of apparel. It is practically certain that the military will remain here until the special grand jury, summoned today, has completed its report and returned the indictments which State's Attorney Hutch predicts.

Military Force Ample.

The force on hand will not be added to, however, the 4,200 soldiers now here being sufficient to cover the city thoroughly.

The mobilization of the troops was one of the most rapid evolutions in the history of the state militia. Ten minutes after Sheriff Werner had notified Colonel B. J. Shands of the adjutant general's office that soldiers were necessary, the Springfield companies had been ordered under arms. From then until daybreak this morning, when the five troops of the First cavalry arrived from Chicago, khaki-clad militiamen have been pouring into the state capital from all quarters of the commonwealth. Despite the haste of the movement the commissary and quartermaster's departments have withstood the strains upon them. Some few companies were compelled to spend the first night in the streets without blankets or shelter, and some others went supperless to bed after their arrival. These circumstances have been treated merely as incidents and there has been a noticeable absence of grumbling in the rank and file.

There was also a considerable influx of refugees from Decatur, Bloomington, Peoria and other towns. Governor Deneen was the recipient of many inquiries from these people asking whether it was safe to return. In each case the governor assumed personal responsibility for the protection of the negroes, advising them, however, to so time their arrival here that they would come before nightfall. In some cases this was not possible, and he assured them that escorts of soldiers would meet them at the trains and conduct them to their homes and guard them throughout the night.

"We want all the negroes who have fled from Springfield, or who live in nearby towns and are afraid of violence, to come here," said the governor. "This is the best place in the state for them, for here we can shelter, feed and protect those who are unable to care for themselves."

Renewal of Violence Feared.

What will happen when the National guardsmen leave is now the question of paramount importance in the minds of local citizens. It is generally agreed that so long as Governor Deneen wields the mailed fist, trouble of a serious nature is not probable. The streets are too thoroughly patrolled and the danger points are too well guarded. But it is obvious that the militiamen cannot stay here all summer, and there is a belief that the departure of the khaki-clad force will see a renewal of violence against negroes.

The feeling against the colored citizens is one of long standing. The present riots, according to old citizens, is the result of years of racial antagonism. The so-called black belt has for years been an eye-sore to the better class of people. Each year has seen an augmentation of the colored population. It is said that in the last two years a thousand negroes took up their abode in the city, giving the city a colored population of about 3,000 persons. It is alleged by the antagonists of the negroes that their number has rendered the colored voters a political factor which has received attention from leaders of both of the leading parties.

Hatred Is Deep Set.

"They were getting too bold and impudent," said a well-known hotel man today. "People outside the city cannot realize just how offensive this was. The people of the state at large will discover that the outbreak of last Friday was not the result of momentary irritation a temporary ebullition of violence superinduced by the heat. The undercurrent of resentment growing for years needed only a pretext, and the assault on a white woman furnished the pretext. The streets are quiet now because the troops are here. But that is no assurance that the question is settled. For the most part the people would have liked to see the matter settled without the intervention of the soldiers. The fact that the trouble is costing business men thousands of dollars daily in loss of trade does not help matters. Personally, I think Governor Deneen's stand for the protection of the negroes is correct, but the average workingman has little sympathy with it."

The tone of this interview is similar to that of others had by newspaper men today. Barbers, street car men, miners, laborers, and the common run of people met on the street talked in a similar strain.

Negro Homes Vacant.

The exodus of the negroes from Springfield seems to be permanent. A visit to the former black town this morning brought out the fact that the homes so quickly deserted Saturday are still vacant and promise to remain so.

There are still a few scattered colored families residing in the few blocks guarded by the soldiers, but they, for the most part, are women, children and aged men. The younger and middle-aged men are very few in number.

The Illinois Traction system and various railroads are bringing colored people into the city, but outgoing cars are still crowded with the blacks. Decatur, Peoria, Bloomington and the smaller nearby towns are having their colored population increased.

Carpet bags, valises and nondescript trunks and suit cases containing, in many instances, all of the property of the negroes, are piled high on the depot platforms.

Governor Deneen's proclamation asking that all negroes return to Springfield and not enter other cities seems of no avail.

A statement from several prominent hotel this morning brings out the fact that the negroes are not wanted as waiters, porters and bellboys at the Springfield hostelries.

Hotels Are Porterless.

Proprietor John H. McCreery of the St. Nicholas stated this morning:

"This trouble makes it very nearly impossible for us to employ colored help at this time. If we do a mob might attempt to take them from the hotel. We are making every effort to secure white help."

It is not only the St. Nicholas that is devoid of porters and roustabouts. The Leland hotel, where negroes were extensively employed as waiters, is this morning without help. Every employe has offered his services in the dining room.

At the St. Nicholas Clerk Hal Faulk and others of the employes are acting as porters.

The few colored people who remain in Springfield are of the better class. Many of them would leave, but are staying only to protect their property.

A correspondent of the Associated Press accompanied General Young on a tour of inspection tonight, during which all the posts were visited. The officers of the various commands reported to General Young an absolutely quiet and eventless day.

All stores are still closed promptly at nightfall, and the embargo on liquor selling is complete. Even hotels are not allowed to serve intoxicants to regular guests occupying rooms and the clubs are similarly situated.

George Cooper, one of the refugees at the arsenal, told a harrowing tale of his experiences with his wife and two children.

Friday night, when fire was spreading in the negro district and windows were being shattered by the howling mob, Cooper and his wife managed to escape in the darkness to the country. They walked till daylight almost in a circle, they afterwards discovered, and then, being near the village of Spaulding, they hid in a ditch till nightfall Saturday. They were without food, and one of the children, a baby, was taken sick. The child cried incessantly, and when white people were seen approaching the mother had to stifle its cries with her hand over the little one's mouth. That night they left the ditch, still without food, and started northward. They again saw citizens armed, and to avoid encountering them hid wherever shelter offered. At midnight they were still within a mile of the town, when troops were seen coming. The colored family later obtained shelter and food at the Spaulding jail.

Beer Carried on Troop Train.

KANKAKEE, Ill., Aug. 17.—Coroner Fenouille today continued the investigation of the fatal stabbing of Earl Nelson by J. B. Klein, a Chicago soldier, Saturday afternoon. After hearing several witnesses, adjournment was taken until State's Attorney Miller returns from Springfield.

George E. Patterson, trainmaster of the Illinois Central railroad, who rode on the troop train from Kankakee to Clinton, testified that he knew nothing of the stabbing until the train arrived at Gilman. Patterson testified that many soldiers were drinking beer.

Tom Suprenant, a grocer, testified that he saw cases of beer loaded on the troop train here.

Saloons Responsible.

CHICAGO, Aug. 17.—Eugene W. Chafin, the Prohibition candidate for the presidency, who was injured in Springfield at the inception of the race rioting, while trying to protect a negro who was pursued by a mob, declared tonight that Chicago is in danger of being thrown into the same state of rioting as was experienced in Springfield sooner or later.

He declared it to be his belief that unless the saloon conditions of the city were changed a worse race war than has ever been known in this country is certain to take place. The lack of a proper Sunday closing law, he said, or the failure of the authorities to enforce the existing laws, was breeding the sort of thing seen in Springfield. The true cause of the trouble, he said, is whisky.

"It is the open town," he declared, "that is bringing the bad negroes from the south."

Race War Imminent.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Aug 17.—As a result of the determination of the Kings Mountain Coal company to work negroes in the same mines with white men, a race war that threatens to assume serious proportions is imminent in the mining districts adjacent to Jellico, Tenn. Tonight 70 negroes, heavily armed, are barricaded in a commissary which is threatened by between 300 and 40 0white men, and an attack is expected at any moment.

Sheriff Huddlestone of Campbell county has just reached the scene and is summoning every available citizen to protect the negroes.

WILL ASK EDITORS TO RAISE MONEY

DEMOCRATS HAVE NEW PLAN OF CAMPAIGN.

Subscription Lists Will be Opened in Newspapers and Public Invited to Step Forward.

CHICAGO, Aug. 17.—Editors of every Democratic and Independent newspaper throughout the United States will be appealed to by the Democratic national committee to start subscriptions for the Democratic fund in their newspapers. This plan, which was made known tonight by Colonel Moses C. Wetmore, chairman of the finance committee, is distinct from the effort already inaugurated by the national committee to obtain money through financial representatives under the direction of national committeemen in each of the states of the country. Colonel Wetmore said:

"We are going to get the money to run this campaign, make no mistake about that. The Republicans know where to get theirs, no matter what contributions they may have to turn back to comply with the law. Every source that we can find will be tapped and the results of our efforts so far are fairly encouraging. The finance committee started today to send appeals to editors of all Democratic and independent newspapers to start subscription lists and to every contributor the national committee will send an acknowledgment as a souvenir of the campaign. The appeal is signed by Chairman Mack, Governor Haskell, treasurer of the committee, and myself."

Senator Thomas F. Gore of Oklahoma sent work to the national committee today that he would give one-half of the receipts of a coming series of lectures that he had been engaged for, to the campaign fund. National Committeeman G. B. Tucker of Arkansas was a caller at headquarters today.

MONUMENT TO JOEL CHANDLER HARRIS.

From the Kansas City Journal.

As a memorial to Joel Chandler Harris, a public park for the children of his home city, Atlanta, is suggested. The idea has found immediate favor throughout the south, and the name of the prospective playground has already been chosen—Uncle Remus park. The Atlanta Constitution heads the popular subscription list with a contribution of $100, and ineditorially commending the plan, says: "In a bit of green and grassy woodland blossoming in spring and summer, spreading nature's choicest fragrance, where the squirrel and mockingbird, and even Brer Rabbit might find a tempting bower, populated by little tots who know, or have yet to learn the joys of the old plantation stories—the spirit of Uncle Remus would be there delighting in the joyous picture, while unmindful, as in life, of the brain and toil that made it possible. As it was Mr. Harris's chief delight to give others pleasure while he lived, the most fitting tribute that would find expression is that which would mean continuation of his life's greatest purpose."

A new use has been found for batiste. It now makes its appearance in the guise of coats heavily embroidered and braided and worn with colored gowns of crepe de chine, pongee and cashmere.

ALLEGES SHERIFF WINKED AT BETTING

GOVERNOR HUGHES TO PROSECUTE OFFICER.

Charge Is Made That Gambling was Permitted at Saratoga Races Despite State Law.

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 17.—Governor Hughes will soon refer to a commissioner, whom he will appoint, the charges preferred against Sheriff John Bradley, Jr., of Saratoga county, for alleged failure to enforce the antirace gambling laws at Saratoga. The commissioner is to take testimony in Saratoga and report his finding to the governor.

The procedure to be followed was announced by Governor Hughes late today, when Sheriff Bradley appeared in the executive chamber to file his answer to the charges preferred by Walter Laidlow, chairman of the so-called antirace track gambling campaign committee of New York. Through his counsel, ex-Senator Edgar T. Brackett and Hiram C. Todd of Saratoga, a general denial is made to the allegation that during the racing season at Saratoga public betting had been openly conducted without interference by the sheriff and his deputies.

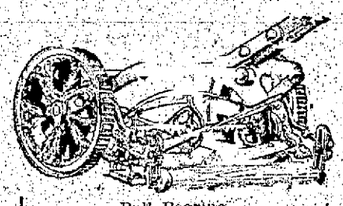

Louis Marshall of New York appeared for the complainant, accompanied by Mr. Laidlow and at least three witnesses, who, Mr. Marshall said, were in readiness to testify against Sheriff Bradley before the governor, if he desired.

With the approval of the governor, Mr. Marshall submitted to Mr. Brackett the names of four hotels in Saratoga where, it is alleged, public betting was openly conducted.

Louis Marshall of New York represented the antirace gambling campaign committee and Senator Brackett asked for the dismissal of the complaint on the ground that the charges are not verified and make no specifications.

Governor Hughes denied Senator Brackett's request.

DIVING FOR A LOCOMOTIVE.

F. Hopkinson Smith, in Everybody's Magazine.

Sometimes a diversion in the customary work of recovering sunken property would occur. It was a locomotive on one occasion; she had attempted to cross a trestle and had toppled over in thirty feet of water bottomed by mud.

"Get her up?" said Capt. Scott. "Certainly. Where'll I put her?"

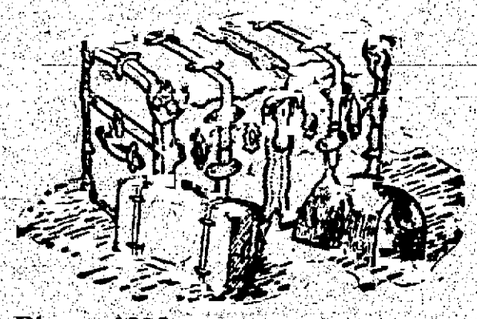

"Back on the rails," said the manager, with a laugh at the impossibility of the task.

"All right; she'll be there in the mornin,"—and she was.

It was but the work of half a day for Capt. Scott to rig up a pair of sheer poles, drop beside in his diving dress, pass some heavy chains under the boiler and between her axles, hook a block into a ring, take a turn on a hoisting engine aboard his wrecking tug, open a steam cylinder—and up she came. To lower her gently to the rails and wash her clean of the mud with a nozzle attached to the hose of his steam pump was the last service.

"There," he said, when she was scrubbed clean, "now git a fire under her and pull her out; she's in my way."

BRYAN DANGEROUS IN LARGE ISSUES

White House. Mr. Taft has proven it on the bench, in the Philippines, in Cuba, in Panama and in the general counsels of the cabinet and in a manner reflecting honor on his country.

"Mr. Bryan has proven it in the possession of a political pertinacity and partisan persistency rarely, if ever, equaled in history.

"What either of these men will do during a four years' term in the White House is causing much anxiety among thoughtful Americans.

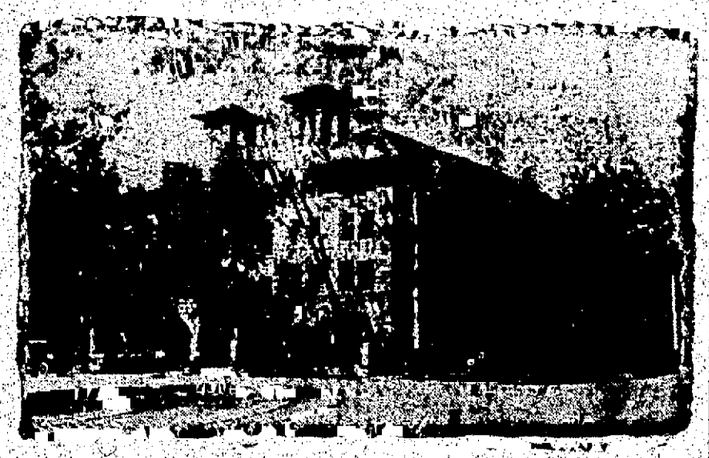

Great Issues Involved.

"One President established a protectorate and raised the flag over Hawaii. Another withdrew the papers from the Senate, pulled down the flag and withdrew the military forces whose protection his predecessor had guaranteed to an island which is now American territory, and on which we are now establishing the greatest naval base in the world.

"What Mr. Bryan would do with the Philippines under similar circumstances is difficult to determine.

"The President's power, exercised through the trade in the interpretation and enforcement of customs laws, is far reaching. He is the world's greatest banker. With two hundred millions at his disposal, he can distribute these vast sums throughout the country in the encouragement of industries, or, if his prejudice against national banks is great, he may lock it up in the vaults at Washington, or he may center it in New York, Chicago or San Francisco.

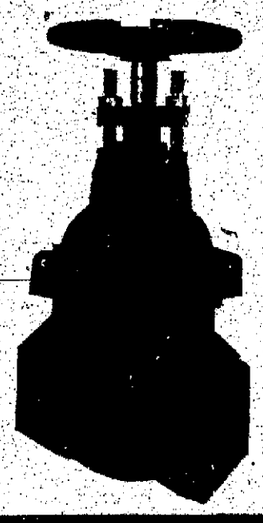

"He may harass interstate commerce by a system of espionage which no concern, whether guilty or innocent, can survive. He can institute proceedings on suspicion and prejudice alone, or he may willfully overlook violations of law on the part of favorites."

more than 5,000 bowling games rolled at the Young Men's Christian association alleys. Some 12,000 games of billiards and pool are played per month. That the soda fountains are appreciated is shown by the fact that the monthly income from them is not far from $1,500. The total membership in the associations is nearly 1,500, or almost one-third of the force of Americans on the isthmus. They have camera, chess, checker, minstrel and music clubs.

Night Schools Beneficial.

The night schools at the Young Men's Christian association are pretty well patronized by the new arrivals on the isthmus, but there is a species of lazybug in that climate, which, after he has been there for a year, makes a man want to rest whenever he is off duty. Going to night school becomes an intolerable bore by that time, and so you find very few men in attendance who have been on the isthmus more than a year. The study of Spanish is the one thing which night school pupils do not give up until they have mastered the subject. For, besides the satisfaction of being able to talk with native Panamanians and the Spaniards who are in the zone there is hope of a reward. An employe who can pass an examination in Spanish words stands a pretty good show of getting a promotion in the service. Besides, the fellow who has grit enough to carry through a course of study on the isthmus, with its enervating climate, is pretty sure to climb the ladder of success wherever he goes.

There is some enthusiasm on the isthmus over basketball. Empire holds the South American championship in this popular sport. Basebell is as much the national game on the isthmus as it is in the States, and some good playing is seen on the diamonds at Culebra, Empire and Ancon. Culebra and Empire are the strongest baseball towns, and there is strong rivalry between them. When they play a championship series there is as much enthusiasm as you will see at a championship contest between the White Sox and the Cubs, or between the Athletics and the Giants. And as for money changing hands, they have the game at home beaten to a standstill.

Made Money on Game.

During the last dry season there was a big game between the two teams, and some fellows put up every cent they had themselves and as much more as they could borrow. One fellow from Culebra borrowed from every friend he had, and when the game was over he was such a winner that he took a six month's vacation in the States without pay. The classic sporting event of the isthmus, however, is the semioccasional game between the "has-beens" and the "never-wases." Everybody turns out to see that.

Patriotism runs high on the Isthmus on the Fourth. The celebrations held here last week were of a high order, and for fireworks and fun there was nothing in the states that could outclass them. The day at Ancon was something to talk about. They had band concerts, foot races, sack races, potatoes races, catching the greased pig, and every other sort of sport that funmakers can conjure up for a Fourth of July. The Panama railroad ran free trains the whole day long, and for once you could go from the Atlantic to the Pacific without money and without price. And almost everybody went. After it was all over men who had taken part in some of the greatest Fourth of July celebrations in recent years in the states would tell you without hesitation that they had had one of the times of their lives. The day wound up by a dance at the Tivoli, where all of the youth and beauty of the Isthmus gathered.

Fourth Royally Honored.

The Fourth of July fever even spread to the Jamaicans, the Barbadians, the Martiniques, the Spaniards, the Italians and the Panamanians. Cock fighting, bull fighting, and a hundred other Spanish sports were the popular diversions. Any one who has seen a Fourth of July on the Isthmus of Panama knows that patriotism is an infectious sentiment, and, as when soldiers singing "Annie Laurie" each think of a different girl, so, while all the 52 nationalities on the Isthmus joined in the carnival of noise and fun, they each thought of a different home beyond the seas.

Dancing is one of the great pastimes of the canal zone. The influence of a tropical moon is something no one can understand who has never been south of Cancer. It calls men and women alike to the court of Terpsichore. Everybody dances. The thing starts with the little home affair, then comes the club house dance, and finally the fortnightly dance at the Tivoli. These Tivoli functions are the culminating social events of the Isthmus, and nothing short of sickness can keep the socially inclined away from them. The Tivoli hotel cost in the neighborhood of half a million dollars and makes you think of the bigger hotels at Atlantic City. It was designed as the social headquarters of the Isthmus and like most things down here it is admirably answering the purpose for which it was designed.

Social Lines Are Broad.

Some writers who have visited the Isthmus have made much of the alleged social distinctions which are said to be based on the salaries of the different members of the force. But they have sadly overdrawn the picture. As a matter of fact there are fewer social distinctions here than anywhere else you may go. The right kind of a man or woman is always in demand. If he or she has any social qualifications which will add something to the pleasure of the occasion. They do not ask whether you are getting $1,000 or $5,000 a year. What they want to know is whether you have a clean reputation and can do something to liven up a party. In looking over the list of guests invited to a social function you will see names that are signed to the payroll for $1,200 a year, beside names that draw five times as much.

The members of the commission have now a pet dream. They hope some day soon to see a tea room or rest room for women in every one of the towns in the zone. They claim that the women need social centers where they can gather for amusement and recreation as the men do, and where they can have a bit of interesting gossip over a social cup of tea. These tea rooms may eventually come from the women's club which have already gone a long way toward giving a stability to the working force on the Isthmus.

There is a club at every American settlement, and these are all members of the local Federation of Women's clubs, which holds regular meetings at the Tivoli hotel. Literature and the live questions of canal life form the topics discussed at the club meetings. Like their sister club women in the states, the club women of the canal zone are eliminating all social lines that have been built solely on a basis of monetary worth, and are considering only such foundations as mental and moral worth. As a result they are instrumental in promoting happier social conditions, happier home life and more general community amusement.

BLACKSNAKE IN BRYAN'S ALFALFA

had never heard of the offer or agreement and he suggested that the proper persons to consult were the members of the committee on credentials which decided the Pennsylvania contests.

Mr. Bryan would not permit himself to be drawn into a further discussion with James W. Van Cleave, president of the Manufacturers association, who came out in the press today with additional reasons why the business men of the country should not support the Democratic national ticket. This decision was based on the fact that Mr. Van Cleave had failed to defend his former contentions, but instead had shifted the discussion to other questions. Not many visitors came to the Bryan home today. Some of those who did call, however, were given an experience not anticipated. A large blacksnake for a time had everything his own way and made the guests very uncomfortable. He made several pilgrimages across the road leading to the house, always as some one was coming down the walk, with the result that he carried terror in his wake. A searching party armed with canes and clubs sallied forth through the alfalfa patch in front of the Bryan home, bent on destroying the reptile, but he eluded his pursuers, and now a problem of great moment is being worked out.

ZEIGLER'S VICTIM IS HOTEL GAMBLER

in defense of his property, as he claims.

Coppers says he had not seen Farley for at least six years and he was unable to give any information as to any possible connection between Farley and Ziegler, except that both were in the same line of crooked work.

Sensational developments, which may introduce the name of a third party into the mysterious shooting affair, are expected tonight or tomorrow.

The autopsy on the body of the dead man disclosed the fact that, instead of a single bullet in his body, there were two balls, apparently of different caliber, fired from different weapons.

Up to the time of the autopsy the police had worked on the theory that Ziegler, who admits that he shot the strange man, was telling the truth when he declared he had been assaulted in his room and in the struggle had wrested the gun from his assailant and had killed him with his own weapon.

It now appears certain that Ziegler either used another gun, which has disappeared, and then fired a second shot from the gun carried by the dead man, or that a third party, whose identity is unknown, was in the room and was responsible for the shot.

TO SEND SOCIALIST CAR

Party Headed by Debs Coming to Convert the West.

CHICAGO, Aug. 17.—The national executive committee of the Socialist party met here today and made plans for their campaign. It was decided to send from this city, on August 31, a special train to the Pacific coast, carrying Eugene V. Debs, the Socialist presidential candidate, and several other speakers, among them A. A. Simons. It is planned to visit 350 cities between here and the Pacific coast, after which the special will return to this city, thence to the Atlantic coast. Addresses will be made by the orators of the party at a large number of cities en route. A carload of Socialist party literature will be taken along and distributed. The cost of sending out the special, it was said, will be $20,000, made up from contributions by Socialists from 10 cents to $1.

GET READY FOR KERN

Democrats Prepare Hall for Notification Ceremony.

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 17.—The work of decorating the Coliseum at the state fair grounds began today, preliminary to the formal notification of John W. Kern of his nomination for vice president on the Democratic ticket, which will take place August 25. There will be no parade or street demonstration. The notification speech will be delivered at an afternoon meeting. It is expected that immediately following Mr. Kern's acceptance Mr. Bryan will speak on the trusts. A night meeting with Mr. Bryan and Mr. Kern as speakers is a possibility. This, it is planned, will be held, if at all, in Tomlinson hall, in the center of the city.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—The President today sent a cablegram of congratulation to Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria-Hungary, the occasion being the birthday of the emperor, which takes place tomorrow. The message was in the usual form, expressing the President's wish for the happiness of the emperor and for the prosperity of his country.

NORFOLK, Va., Aug. 17.—Orders from Washington today stopped the preliminary trial of Arthur Jenkins, the young sailor charged with sending an obscene postal card to President Roosevelt. At the office of the United States marshal it was said that orders from the President had caused the hearing to be adjourned for the present.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—Secretary Garfield of the interior department returned today from an inspection tour through the public land states and territories, which was extended to Hawaii. He has been absent since June 1.

but that he wanted to serve him with papers in a divorce proceeding.

Women Were Intimate.

Mrs. Annis frequently entertained Mrs. Hains, and several times Mrs. Hains was taken on automobile rides with Mrs. Annis and her husband.

General Hains is in New York stopping at the Hotel Astor, so that he can be near his sons. He was asked today if he had seen his daughter-in-law and replied that he had not. He told of an arrangement which had been reported as existing whereby Mrs. Hains could visit her children every two weeks and stated emphatically that he would not permit her to take charge of the little ones unless his son, Captain Hains, agrees to let her have them. General Hains declined to discuss the shooting of Annis by his son, saying his son's lawyers had advised him not to talk about the case. The district attorney was advised that T. Jenkins Hains killed a man at Fortress Monroe, Va., 17 years ago and will secure a copy of the court proceedings during his trial. Ned Hannegan, the man Hains killed, was his best friend and it is a striking coincidence that he shot him in a sailboat. At his trial, Hains was acquitted.

Signed Written Accusation.

While Mr. Annis was lying on the float of the Bayside Yacht club, after he had been shot, Mr. C. Rockwell scribbled on an envelope these words:

"Shot by Captain Peter C. Hains, U. S. A., August 15."

This was handed to the dying man and in a firm hand he signed his name.

When the Hains brothers were taken to a police station at Long Island city this morning, they had to wait until a lot of petty cases had been disposed of before their case was called. They were locked in the prison pen, and when arraigned, stood on the bridge handcuffed together. Their father was in the court room, but had no chance to speak to his sons.

Their counsel, William C. Percy, asked for an adjournment of a week and it was granted. Then the brothers, handcuffed to detectives, were taken through the streets to a trolley line five blocks away, followed by a big crowd. Photographers took pictures of them, and when one of the detectives told the photographers that they had taken enough pictures, T. Jenkins Hains spoke up, saying:

"Let them take all they want; give them a chance. They'll get them, anyway."

Carried in Patrol to Brooklyn.

Later the prisoners were taken to Brooklyn police headquarters, a trip of 15 miles, in a patrol wagon, and a photograph was taken for the Bertillon records.

District Attorney Darrin in the afternoon announced that he would call a special grand jury in an effort to have an early indictment of the brothers. He says he expects to have them on trial by the middle of September.

The coroner's inquest has been set for Wednesday morning.

The funeral of Mr. Annis will be held tomorrow morning from his apartments in the Malvern, on Claremont avenue.

L. C. Page, a Boston publisher who is stopping at the Hotel Breslin here, and who has published a number of T. Jenkins Hains' stories, made public today a letter which he says he received from T. Jenkins Hains more than a month ago, in which the writer said that he was in great distress due to a family trouble, that his brother was broken-hearted on account of his home being broken up by a man and that he wished very much Page would come and help him.

Did Not Love Husband.

Mrs. Peter C. Hains, Jr., is quoted as having declared that she will visit Fort Hancock on Thursday to get possession of her children, who are with their grandparents.

"I have a perfect right to see my children" she is said to have declared. "I am their mother and I have the right to care for them.

"I was not old enough to know what real love meant when I first met Captain Hains. Now I see what a terrible mistake I made. He was an army officer, and, like other girls, the glitter of it all caught my fancy.

"As I said, I did not know what real love meant, but I was all a wife should be to a husband. I knew Mr. Annis and liked him. He was a very fine man, and his wife and I were very good friends. He always tried to have some little surprise ready for anyone he liked, and I am proud and glad he liked me, but, oh, that I should be the innocent cause of his death. That is the terrible thing to me. What can I say to Mrs. Annis? She knows the real truth; she knows that the terrible stories circulated were mean, terrible lies, every one of them. That is comfort to me, but it does not make up for her loss or suffering.

"Captain Hains should be punished I hope, for my babies' sake, that he does not die, but his punishment should be heavy."

BODY OF SUICIDE ARRIVES.

Captain James W. Broatch Will Be Buried in Nebraska.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Aug. 17.—The body of Captain James W. Broatch, commanding officer of the marines at Cavite, who committed suicide by shooting himself with his revolver, arrived here today on the transport Buford and will be shipped to Nebraska for interment.

Before killing himself the officer is reported to have called up a friend on the telephone and calmly informed him that he was about to end his life, but did not assign any reason for his intention. When his friend arrived at the headquarters of the marine corps he found Captain Broatch on the floor of his office with a bullet through his temple.

TO DRY DOCK COLORADO.

Cruiser to Be Repaired and Investigation Made.

PUGET SOUND NAVY YARD, Aug. 17.—As a result of the grounding of the armored cruiser Colorado at Lip-Lip point last Saturday morning a court of inquiry is to be called to determine if blame attaches to any of the ship's officers.

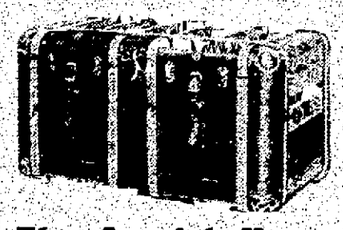

The Colorado has been taken into dry dock and a preliminary survey of her bottom indicates that she will have to remain there 30 days.

Not less than 25 plates will have to be relaid as the bolts have been torn loose. Notwithstanding her injuries the Colorado is not leaking badly.

For evening gowns and soft dresses on the lingerie order there is a delightful version of the rucked mosquetaire sleeve that will be much used. It is particularly attractive with a suggestion of drapery in the upper part that goes well with the Greek costume idea.

COLORADO SPRINGS AND THE CONSUMPTIVES.

MR. HENRY RUSSELL WRAY, Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, made an address before the annual convention of the International Typographical Union at Boston a few days ago on the advantages of Colorado Springs as a resort for tuberculosis victims, which has already resulted in a great deal of the best kind of advertising. It was printed in all of the Boston papers and in the proceedings of the convention, there to be distributed to the thousands of members of the Typographical Union all over the United States and Canada.

Under the heading, "New Cheer for Consumptives," The Boston Transcript of last Wednesday printed an editorial commenting on Mr. Wray's address and particularly emphasizing the fact that instead of seeking to bar out consumptives, as many places do, Colorado Springs urges them to come and does everything to make them comfortable and accelerate their improvement after they get here. "Colorado Springs is one of the delightful cities of the West," says The Transcript. "Like Los Angeles and Pasadena, it has come to be a cosmopolitan society all the year around with every nationality of the world brilliantly represented." Then follows an enthusiastic description of this city's advantages as a haven for the tuberculous. The editorial from which this extract is taken is reprinted in full on this page of The Gazette.

The truth of these statements is well known to everybody in Colorado Springs who has been here long enough to test the climate and observe its wonderful curative properties. Statistics usually make dry reading, but when they concern a subject in which everybody is as vitally interested as the people of Colorado Springs are in the study and cure of tuberculosis, they are worth a careful examination. Mr. Wray gave the printers a mass of statistical information that will doubtless be as surprising to many people here at home as it was to his hearers.

For instance, Colorado Springs has only 48 cloudy days in the year as contrasted with 129 in the Adirondacks, 106 at Asheville, 97 at Thomasville, 92 at San Antonio, and 73 at Santa Barbara, all of which are resort cities patronized in a greater or less degree by victims of consumption. Contrasting the number of cloudy days here with those in the larger cities of the country, the showing is even more striking, the average ranging from 88 in Boston to 117 in Chicago. We have an average of 200 perfectly cloudless days in the year and 117 that are classed as partly cloudy, and on nearly all of the partly cloudy days the sun shines most of the time it is above the horizon.

PROTECTING BOTH SICK AND WELL.

Everything considered, Colorado Springs is undisputedly the best resort in the United States for the tuberculous, and it only remains to impress this fact on the general public, and more particularly on the medical profession, to more than double the number of health seekers that come here. This can be done by systematic and persistent advertising. Every day some victim of the dread disease comes here—too late. It is useless to contend that this or any other climate will be of more than temporary benefit to a sufferer in the last stages of the disease, but thousands of lives could be saved every year if such people only realized the importance of coming before the malady has advanced beyond the initial stage. Such work as was done by Mr. Wray in Boston last week is of incalculable value in promoting the campaign of education.

We must not for a moment lose sight of the important fact that the invitation which Colorado Springs constantly extends to the afflicted carries with it a heavy responsibility. After the health seekers come here they must be provided for, but it is no more important to provide for their welfare than it is to safeguard the healthy from possible infection. In Colorado Springs there is none of the almost superstitious fear of consumption commented on by The Transcript, which results not merely in isolation but in ostracism. All of us know that there is no danger of infection when proper preventive measures are taken, but it is extremely dangerous to permit this fact to make us careless. The consumptive owes a duty to his associates and to the general public which certainly is not secondary to the duty of getting well, which he owes to himself. The case may almost be summed up in four words—no spitting, no tuberculosis, for if the sputum is invariably destroyed the danger of infection is reduced almost to the vanishing point. But of the total number of tuberculous people we dare say that comparatively few adhere rigidly to this rule, and that is why it is vitally important that thorough disinfection and like measures be enforced for the protection of the general public.

PROSPERITY MADE TO ORDER.

THE idea of restoring prosperity after a period of business depression by merely passing a resolution, "Resolved: That we will be prosperous," sounds a little too simple to be practical, but the National Prosperity Association of St. Louis, which is made up of the biggest business interests in the Missouri metropolis, has achieved a very considerable degree of success in this fashion. The "Re-employment Day" idea, promoted by the association, has received a good deal of space in the papers, but when it was announced not many people supposed that it would have any practical value. It did though, unless the figures sent out by the association are all wrong.

Last May a number of business men in St. Louis met to talk over the situation. They agreed that there was nothing fundamentally wrong with the country, and only one reason why prosperity should not return almost as quickly as it departed—a general lack of confidence. The crop prospects, the basis of all business stability, were excellent, and in their opinion it was simply a matter of preaching the gospel of cheerfulness and putting it into practice. June 1 was designated as "Re-employment Day," when every business concern that could do so was expected to put as many men to work as possible. The idea sounded fantastic, but it worked, for the association declares that in the month of June between 17,000 and 20,000 idle men were given work in the industries of St. Louis. The idea was taken up in Chicago, Cincinnati, Cleveland, and other cities, with equally satisfactory results.

The railroads have played a prominent part in the movement. According to the association's statement "The railroads of the United States employ, in their normal operation, almost one-tenth of the male adult population. They use one-third of the iron and steel products marketed in this country. They consume 27 per cent of the lumber cut. Following November last, for nearly six months they suspended improvements, only making such repairs as were absolutely indispensable. Their purchases fell off in some of those months 50 per cent as compared with the same months of the preceding year. One system with a terminus in St. Louis, the purchases for which ran about $1,000,000 a month, was buying about $30,000 worth of supplies before the prosperity movement was inaugurated. Conditions with the railroads show marked improvement, but they still fall far short of normal. The freight cars are being drawn from the side tracks into active service at the rate of 2,500 to 3,000 a day, but there are still too many of them idle."

This is mental healing on a big scale to the country's business ills. We may smile at the idea, but if it produces results it is a good thing to push along.

STRAPS AND HANGERS.

From the New York Evening Post.

The public service commission has discovered that there is an average of forty-one strap-hangers per car crossing the Williamsburg bridge during the rush hours. There would be less complaint, however, if there were forty-one straps.

RACE SUICIDE.

From the New York Tribune.

The daily accident roll suggests that Americans are committing race suicide by the automobile route. Twenty deaths a day, with the chauffeur as executioner, seems to be the current record. Here is a hint for those who are seeking a substitute for the Marathon race. In any Olympic game Americans could win first, second and third place at an automobile suicide contest.

PLAYGROUNDS.

From the Richmond Times-Dispatch.

The west and east alike have found out that the playground is even more valuable for making good citizens than for making healthy bodies and it is because playgrounds make good citizens that they are receiving such loyal support. In Richmond there are at present four playgrounds in active operation, at Springfield, Central, Leigh and Randolph schools. Helpful as these spaces are, it is yet to be heard that the city of Richmond has taken charge of the movement and provided the grounds with proper equipment. The experience of other cities, as well as the advantages of the playgrounds themselves, should continually spur Richmond to bettering conditions in this important field.

EVERYDAY POLITENESS.

To the Editor of The Gazette:

Each day there are performed all around us many little acts of kindness, and, sad to say, many little discourtesies which mark the gentlemanlike or ungentlemanlike character of the persons by whom they are enacted as clearly and as truly as though the deeds of their whole life were unveiled before us.

The other day there occurred several little incidents in the postoffice, all trifling in themselves, but nevertheless a true index to the character of its actor.

A long line of people was standing before one of the general delivery windows, each waiting his turn to receive mail. Presently a feeble old lady came in, and as she started to take her place at the end of the line, a young woman motioned her into her own place, she herself taking the position the old lady had occupied.

Again, during a busy moment at the stamp window, several people had gathered closely before it, each anxious to be waited on. Among them was a young colored man—a true gentleman, however—while impatiently crowding around were several ladies, beautifully gowned in spotless white, who looked for all the world like real ladies. But they were not, for, as the young colored man's turn at the window came around and he was about to step forward to be waited on, one of the "ladies" ruthlessly pushed ahead of him. Politely stepping aside, the young fellow gave way to her and also to the next two or three women following her. Not one of the "ladies" thanked him, nor did they so much as give him an acknowledging glance as they impatiently pushed ahead. The next lady who came up had witnessed the impolite conduct of the woman before her, and as the young colored man was again about to give way for her, she kindly motioned the patient young fellow on, assuring him that he was next.

Whether the young woman who had a benevolent thought for the old lady, or the patient young colored man who gave up his place at the window to the "ladies," and each time with an unruffled temper and a smile, or at last, the real lady who would not again usurp his place, but bade him go before her all alike, possess that benevolent and charitable spirit which is never confounded with the thoughtless and discourteous acts of the men and women who have no regard whatever for their fellow men.

NEW CHEER FOR CONSUMPTIVES.

From the Boston Transcript, August 12.

Within the last few years there have been several reactions in public sentiment regarding consumption and consumptives. From extreme imprudence in treatment of cases of tuberculosis within the household the pendulum appeared to have swung, say five years ago, to the opposite end of the arc, and there seemed to be danger that under the teachings of science we were to turn our backs completely upon the counsels of religion, and extinguish all the natural affections in the universal boycott of the victims of the tuberculosis bacillus, even to the isolation within the home of that member of the family who of all the rest needed most the comforting and cheer of attention and companionship. Happily, the very medical men who had first sounded the alarm as to the contagiousness of consumption were the first to perceive the added complications that would ensue upon a panic in the popular mind leading to the shunning of consumptives as though they were lepers, and their next sagacious move was to circulate instructions for the care of consumptives, especially as regards the collection and disinfection of the sputum, ventilation and sunshine baths. Something like an equilibrium has now been reached between vigilance against, and what might be called "first aid" for, the lighter and beginning cases which exist among us always, and in far larger numbers than anybody but the practicing physicians of a community ever becomes aware.

But it is rare than any community welcomes consumptives. In many a sanatorium opening its doors to every other class of invalids, the bars are instantly put up on the approach of a sufferer from tuberculosis. In Florida and North Carolina, certain places which for years entertained consumptives have established a strict and in some cases a cruel and a brutal quarantine against them. In Texas, where apparently no sooner does anybody think of some radical measure than a law is passed embodying it without regard to consequences, a general taboo has been decreed by statute, but is practically unenforceable throughout the state's vast empty tracts of desert lands. But now comes Colorado Springs, in the authoritative voice of Mr. Henry Russell Wray, secretary of the Colorado Springs Chamber of Commerce, at the convention of the International Typographical union, assembled in this city yesterday, crying in effect: "What ho, unhappy tuberculous, fleeing from the strictures of other communities, welcome to Colorado Springs. So far from merely tolerating you, the citizens will take a positive pride and pleasure in possessing you as so many evidences, so many living testimonies to the superiority of the air and sunshine of our beautiful and progressive city. For there you may live and never think of consumption or be thought of by those around you as consumptive. For you will there have no further occasion to ascertain whether your lungs are in order any more than the normally healthy person has to know whether his liver is working as it should do. Come and we shall hail you as another valuable asset and walking advertisement."

If Colorado Springs were a forlornly struggling boom town lost in some monotonous prairie desert; if it consisted mainly of sanatoria surrounded by shacks, that sort of welcome would be one thing. But Colorado Springs is now one of the delightful cities of the west. Like Los Angeles and Pasadena, it has come to have a cosmopolitan society all the year round, with every nationality of the world brilliantly represented. It lies sprawled out on its lofty tableland slightly sloping to the southeast in such a way that it has, according to the statistics of the government meteorological station, an average of 200 perfectly cloudless days in the year. Then the dryness is quite as exceptional; the "lungers" simply forget that they have lungs. But there is nothing dry in the hospitality of the new Rocky Mountain city—the hearty welcome of the secretary of the Chamber of Commerce heard here yesterday is no merely perfunctory greeting. It is what is repeated there every day, everywhere, in business, on 'change, in the churches, in society.

Today's Horoscope

Tuesday, August 18, 1908.

Heed thou the moving car with careful eye
That so a menaced risk may pass thee by.

A vague, almost meaningless configuration appears for the 231st day. There is nothing to indicate either promise or menace.

Be cautious in all things, but fear not to undertake those matters reasonably within thy control. Naught is demanded save ordinary prudence.

The day will probably prove best for those who are in their 22nd, 29th, 34th, 39th, 46th, 53rd, 58th and 93rd years.

While no particular undertaking is attended with any signs that promise the unusual assistance of luck of favoring chance, the day should prove satisfactory for buying and selling within the lines of commerce or trade to which each man is accustomed.

It is also a not unfavorable day to take medicine and consult surgeons, physicians, specialists and chemists.

There is a tendency to errors through haste.

Women employes must beware against a quarrel with their colleagues.

Tread carefully in entering anything that moves this day, whether elevator, car, carriage or vessel.

Letters from young persons may annoy women with this birth date. They must refrain from quarrels.

Men with this birth date will do well to keep their money safe during the twelvemonth and to avoid a business feud.

Children today are born under a sign that indicates aversion to analysis and study. They will probably be gifted with intuition and will prefer to trust to that. Girls will profit if they are trained to contentment. Boys may prove very stubborn, headstrong and difficult to manage.

A CITIZEN IN DISTRESS.

From Moro (Ore.) Observer.

The town cow, that good old auxiliary to the family support, is of all animals the one most deserving of sympathy. Annually, at this time of the year in this country, she is left without a morsel of green feed, and the industry of her chase after noxious weeds even is returned with a brutal kick or a club. God help the family cow.

HALVING AN APOLOGY.

From Riverton (Wyo.) Republican.

In the write-up of the marriage of Mary Harris and Joe Johnson, we intended to say that the bride and groom had been chums from childhood. Our lady compositor made it read "chumps from childhood." Even at that, we were half right, as anyone who would marry Joe could easily be mistaken for a chump.

AN AUDIBLE NEWSPAPER.

From Marietta (Ga.) Courier.

Editor Rucker of the Alpharetta Free Press gets out the best country paper in Georgia, bar none. When you read it you can hear the call of the whippoorwill, the whistle of bobwhite, the low of the cow, the chip of the cricket, the clatter of the katydid, the crack of the base hit, the murmur of mountain streams, the ring of the woodsman's axe, the music of the saw and hammer, the drone of honey bees, the sound of the dinner horn, the caw of the crow, the bark of the squirrel, the creak of the windlass at the public well, the coo of the dove, the laughter of children, the squawk of the chicken, the scream of the eagle and last, always last, the soul-soothing melody of the mocking bird.

THE FIRST CHAPTER.

(President Roosevelt will get a dollar a word.)
We saw (two plunks) a buck (that's four)
And then (six dollars, please)
I fired (that's eight) a shot (two more)
And brought him to his knees.
The hunting scene (that makes nineteen)
Is something really fine;
The jungle's all a vivid green.
(I think's that twenty-nine.)

Tonight we lie beneath the sky.
(One, two, three, four, five, six;)
It's great (seven, eight); the moon is high,
The woods full of big sticks!
So what we do (that's twenty-two)
Let's do with all our might.
(Come, Kermit, count, whate'er you do!
(Yes, twenty-eight is right!)

It is great sport (my words are short,
But why should I waste ink?)
I thought I heard a rhino snort
In coming down to drink.
I'm on his track. (Kermit, go back
And count these words again.)
The night is still and raven black!
(Loeb, come and hold my pen.)

Bang! Bang! Bang! Bang! (They'll hate to pay
For four bangs in a row,
A dollar each, but that's the way
The contract reads, I know!)
(Loeb, skin the rhino while I add
These word.) What heavenly breeze!
We're off to bed! (And Kermit, lad,
Mail this first chapter, please!)

THE WAY TO EAT CORN ON COB.

From the New York Evening World.

What is the proper way to eat corn on the cob?

What is the proper way to eat watermelon?

In order to settle for all time these all-absorbing problems and to obtain the real aesthetic method of negotiating the succulent corn kernels and luscious melon fruit, a reporter interviewed a number of authorities of both high and low degree. We quote:

Mons. Borgot of the Cafe Martin, Fifth avenue and Twenty-sixth street:

"The corn on the ear is an American institution," said Mons. Borgot. "It is hard for a Frenchman to say what is the proper way to eat it. Here we serve the corn holders. The American woman knows how to eat it daintily. To the epicure there is but one way—that is to bite it from the cob. That is the only way to get the real sweetness. In cutting it with a knife you lose the finest flavor.

"To eat watermelon the proper way is with a fork. A knife is necessary sometimes to dislodge the seeds."

Mons. Lenz, maitre d'hotel at the Holland house, said:

"We serve corn with the holders here. Of course, the only way to really enjoy corn on the cob is to take it from the cob with the teeth. Watermelon is served with a knife and fork, but some people use only the fork."

"Out in Chicago they have no fancy corn holders," said Mons. Paul of Rector's, "and Chicago is in the center of the corn belt. They know how to eat it there. There is only one way to eat it anywhere, and that is to sink the teeth into the cob and get the sweet juice. Some people prefer to have it cut from the cob. The waiter does the cutting in the presence of the patron."

At Sherry's, Fifth avenue and Forty-fourth street, the head waiter said there was only one way to eat corn or watermelon. "We serve corn with the holders, and it is then buttered and spiced by the patron to suit the taste. Watermelon is eaten with a fork.

"Oh, everybody knows how to eat corn on the cob," said Oscar, at the Waldorf. "No American needs to be told. No one who really enjoys to eat ever tries to eat it excepting right from the cob. That is the only way to appreciate it. Watermelon should be eaten with a fork."

The head waiter at Mink's, in Long Acre square, said:

"We don't serve corn holders here. We don't care how people eat corn off the cob as long as they do it respectably. Some of our patrons wear gum coats while eating it, but they are chauffeurs. They just happen to have the gum coats on. A knife and fork goes with the watermelon here."

"Now, I'll tell you," said Barney Connelly at the Hoffman house. "A lot of people nowadays have no interest in the question 'How to eat corn on the cob.' Since that panic hit this town, and the bank rolls got lean, a lot of folks are figuring on how to get it to eat.

"But there is only one way," continued Barley. "To really enjoy eating corn on the cob you want to first hire a hall, so you can tackle it when no one is looking. Then you take a large napkin and wrap it 'round your neck, the same as saying: 'Now I am going to muss things.' Then you take the ear in the left hand and, butter it with the right. When all is ready you clinch it. But if you wear store teeth it is best to leave it alone.

"Now, to eat watermelons," said Barney, very seriously, "you take a knife or fork; you stab the seeds with the knife and spear the fruit with the fork."

At Beefsteak John's, on Park row, the manager said: "We are here to sell corn. Any guy who buys it can go as far as he likes."

There are many ways to eat corn. The leading experts say that some women have a dainty habit of poising the ear with the left hand and gently nibbling at the corn. The burly corn eater, who cares not and numbers not the ears he consumes, takes the ear in both hands. Expert manipulators of the fork, after long practice, learn to spear the kernels between the prongs of the fork. Some can spear an entire row without losing one. That method, however, is too tedious for the average epicure. The authorities do not agree on any particular angle in which to hold the ear.

TWENTIETH CENTURY BRAZIL.

Striking Development of One Country With Which We Do Business.

From the New York Sun.

The development of Brazil since the beginning of the present century has been striking. There has been an increase of $100,000,000 in imports and a like increase in exports. The figures of Brazilian commerce for the last eight years are as follows:

	Imports.	Exports.
1900	$97,320,000	$165,461,000
1901	96,176,000	197,087,000
1902	112,983,000	176,835,000
1903	117,459,000	179,006,000
1904	125,776,000	191,368,000
1905	144,775,000	216,905,000
1906	161,557,000	255,014,000
1907	197,262,000	263,749,000

The economic possibilities of the country supplies some two-thirds of the world's demand for coffee and about one-half the demand for rubber. Its coffee crop is susceptible of almost indefinite extension and its rubber output can be materially increased. A long list of possibilities is open in other lines. The need of the country is population and an extension of transportation facilities. While there has been a considerable immigration during recent years it is little probable that homeseekers will go to South America in large numbers until some degree of congestion in North America makes this continent less attractive than it now is to the surplus population of Europe. There can be no doubt that such a time will come, and there can be no doubt that Brazil will be one of the principal countries to gain by it.

The United States is Brazil's best customer and takes about 30 per cent of its exports. Brazilian statistics show that out of exports in 1907 valued at $263,749,000, merchandise valued at $71,000,000 was shipped to the United States. Germany took $45,000,000 worth, the United Kingdom $42,000,000 worth, France $30,000,000 worth, and Belgium $14,000,000 worth. Imports from the United States represented only about 12 per cent of the total purchases. The United Kingdom holds a long lead in sales to Brazil. The import record is as follows: From United Kingdom, $59,000,000; from Germany, $30,000,000; United States, $25,000,000; France and Argentina, $17,000,000 each, and Portugal $11,000,000.

LLOYDS TURN DOWN SHEATH GOWN

From the New York World.

Something has at last been found on which Lloyds refuses to write a risk. It is the directoire, or sheath gown. Although everybody is willing to twist his neck out of joint to see one, and thousands of women are anxious to wear them, including those who are afraid the British concern will not insure their popularity.

Bloomingdale Brothers sought to obtain $10,000 insurance against loss on a consignment of directoire gowns. They wanted Lloyds to insure the sale of a certain number by a certain one, but Lloyds decided the caprices of women were beyond them.

"It is true," said Isidor Kahn, of 206 Broadway, who places insurance for the Bloomingdale firm, "that when I tried to get a policy of $10,000 from the agent of the London Lloyds against loss on a consignment of these sheath skirts, or directoire gowns, I failed to get it. We had been after the insurance for some time, and when a decision was finally asked we had to say we could not place the loss. It is first time I ever heard of Lloyds turning down any proposition. It simply shows that an American firm has found that after all the Lloyds will not insure against everything under the sun.

WHERE STONES HAVE EARS.

From the Chicago News.

Dr. Flinders Petrie, the Egyptologist, has been describing his latest discoveries in ancient Memphis. On the ground beneath the foundations of the western court of Ptah, built by Rameses II, a great number of limestone tablets were found. Some of these exhibit a very remarkable figure. Figures of ears—for the hearing of prayer—are inscribed upon them with great skill and fidelity; sometimes there is only a single ear and no other carving; in other cases there is a pair of ears; others, again, have 4, 5, 6, 10, 13, 22, 44, 50, 110, and 386 ears. The meaning of these is stated by the inscriptions. "Ptah listens to the prayer made Amenimes," "Ptah, south of this wall, listens to the petition made by" so-and-so.

WHAT'S THE MATTER WITH KANSAS?

From the El Dorado Republican.

Think of it? The total indebtedness of all the towns and cities, the 185 school districts, and 20 townships in Butler county is $265,050. The county has never issued a bond to anybody since its organization. Just think of it! A county with $37,000,000 taxable valuation and a total indebtedness of $265,000. And just think of it! But few farms in the county are mortgaged. And just think of it some more! The state is practically out of debt. We have no mortgages on our farms; our houses are all built and paid for; the townships are free from indebtedness, while the county has no outstanding obligations. The 25,000 people of this county have $3,000,000 on deposit in their home banks. Is there a county anywhere that can make so good a financial exhibit?

AN IMPROVEMENT

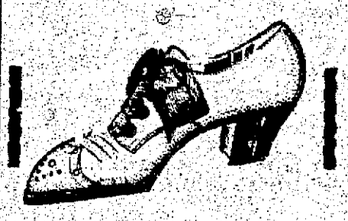

There is no branch of science undergoing a more rapid growth than that of medicine. A large percentage of the drugs now sold are those the people understand the chemical action of. Peroxide, Dioxogen, etc., are highly beneficial in matters of inflammation, contagion and the like, but the latest improvement to this branch of therapeutics is

SEPTOLINE

Besides its faculty of destroying all germ life and preventing inflammation, suppuration, etc., it contains healing qualities which make it doubly valuable. It costs us more but costs you no more than plain antiseptic solutions.

The report has not been completed and the exact date for the general committee meeting has not been fixed, although it will probably be held this week.

COUNCIL HAS SHORT SESSION

Considers Routine Matters Only—C. S. Scott Threatens to Sue the City for $1,000.

Probably the record for brevity at a regular City Council meeting was made last night by the aldermen, who were in session only about three-quarters of an hour, and considered only six minor matters.

An adjournment was taken to next Monday night, when a recommendation of the Citizens Water committee as to the advisability of purchasing the Crowe land near Green Mountain Falls, on which the city has an option, is expected to be submitted. The Council will probably act as recommended by the committee.

The aldermen last night granted a request of the Colorado Springs branch of the State Federation of Women's Clubs for $250 toward the fund for the entertainment of the delegates to the state convention, which meets here in September.

A communication was read from Attorney J. T. White, representing C. W. Scott, to the effect that suit will be started against the city unless Scott is paid $1,000 damages before September 1, as a result of personal injuries alleged to have been received by him because of the defective condition of the Huerfano street viaduct two or three years ago. The matter was referred to the city attorney.

An amendment to the water ordinance was read providing that the State School for the Deaf and Blind be placed on a meter basis, instead of the present flat rate of $500 per year. The ordinance was laid over until the next meeting.

To the public buildings and grounds committee and Health Commissioner P. O. Hanford was referred a petition from H. T. O'Brien that he be allowed to conduct a tourist burro line to Pikes Peak through the Lake Moraine gateway.

J. M. Buster was granted a license for a livery in the rear of 324 North Nevada avenue.

The monthly report of the superintendent of the cemetery and the report of the experts on the books of the city officers were referred to the finance committee.

TO PREPARE FOR "TAG DAY"

Protestant Hospital Guild Will Meet Thursday.

Every member of the Protestant Hospital guild is urged to attend the meeting at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. G. W. Dickey, at which committees will be named and other details of the proposed "Tag Day" arranged. Members of the guild are manifesting great interest in "Tag Day," next Monday, and expect to raise money enough by this novel scheme to purchase furnishings for the new Deaconess' hospital, now in course of construction.

On "Tag Day" stations are to be established at several vantage points in the business district, at which members of the guild and others interested in the work will be in readiness to "tag" all who contribute to the hospital fund. A "tag" will signify that the wearer has done his part, and will exempt him from making further contributions. Large and small amounts will be alike thankfully received.

"Tag Day" will start off with formal exercises on the steps of the city hall, at which Mayor Heizer will give a short address and present a large floral key to Mrs. Frank Cotten, general chairman of the guild, signifying that the city belongs to the guild for the day. There will also be music by a band.

READY FOR FLOWER SHOW

Annual Exhibit Opens Tomorrow at Stratton Park Pavilion—More Entries Than Usual.

Despite the fact that the annual flower show given by the El Paso County Horticultural society, beginning tomorrow afternoon, will be held in Stratton park this year, officers of the society believe that the show will be the largest and best attended in the history of the society. The number of exhibits will be larger than last year, and several of the displays much more extensive. The exhibits from the Printers' Home, the Deaf and Blind institute, and from General William J. Palmer's grounds in Glen Eyrie have already been put in place.

An additional attraction will be the collection of pressed wild flowers belonging to Mrs. Mae Lucas of Roswell. These are 275 in number and some of them are exceedingly rare.

A flatcar will be in front of the postoffice this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock to take all exhibits to the pavilion free of charge. Those wishing to take their entries to the pavilion personally can get car fare by applying to Secretary F. F. Horn at the Colorado Springs Floral company, 104 North Tejon street.

Thursday will be pioneer day. A committee has been gathering relics of historical interest the last week and have several interesting articles.

A list of the members of the Pioneers association will be in the possession of the treasurer at the ticket gate, and all members will be admitted free on Thursday. It is requested that all members of the association who visit the show on that day make themselves known to the ticket seller.

Friday will be children's day. On this day all children will be admitted free of charge. In the evening there will be an auction sale of vegetables.

The social side of the show has not been neglected. There will be music by an orchestra every evening, and a concert by the Midland band Thursday evening.

Flower show tickets will be on sale at the following drug stores: Robinson's, Gutmann's, Colorado Springs Drug company, J. H. Crapser Drug company and the Myers Drug company of Colorado City; also at Hardy's and Whitney and Grimwood's and the Colorado Springs Floral company.

PROHIBITIONISTS MEET TODAY

Several Springs Men Mentioned for State Officers.

Colorado Springs Prohibitionists are prominently mentioned in connection with the candidacy for many state offices on that ticket at the state election this fall. A meeting of the Prohibitionists of El Paso county will be held in the United Presbyterian church at 2 o'clock this afternoon to consider the situation and to plan an aggressive campaign. A speaker from Denver will address the meeting, and in the evening the resolutions drafted by the committee will be acted on and other committee reports heard.

The Prohibition leaders are in doubt as to the advisability of putting a county ticket in the field this fall, and the matter may not be settled today, although it will be discussed. If it is not decided today the question will be taken up within a week.

W. C. Johnston of this city, as has been announced in The Gazette, is spoken of as Prohibition candidate for governor, and also for that of lieutenant governor, should he fail of nomination for governor. J. H. Ketchem and Mr. Rawley, both of Colorado Springs, are spoken of for the nomination of secretary of state. Dr. F. C. Chamberlain, for treasurer, and T. J. Baker, for attorney general, are other local men mentioned.

The Handsome New Addition to Glockner Sanitarium Will Be Formally Opened Today

Ceremonies appropriate to the occasion will mark the formal opening today of the new addition to the Glockner hospital and sanitarium. Religious services, conducted by high church dignitaries, will dedicate the beautiful new chapel, while a brilliant reception, at which addresses will be made by several Colorado notables, and to which friends of the Glockner will gather in large numbers, will publicly open the new addition, just completed at a cost of $150,000.

The new addition has been occupied for the last six weeks, and the great need that existed for such an enlargement of the hospital facilities of Colorado Springs has been more than amply demonstrated within that time. At present, there are only five rooms in the entire sanitarium that are not occupied. The new addition adds 58 rooms and 28 sleeping porches, giving the institution a total capacity of 210 patients.

The public is cordially invited to attend the reception this afternoon, no cards nor invitations being required. The complete program for the day is as follows:

CHAPEL AT GLOCKNER SANITARIUM, WHICH WILL BE DEDICATED TODAY WITH IMPRESSIVE CEREMONIES.

History of the Glockner.

Probably in all the country there is today no more complete hospital and sanitarium than the Glockner. With the increased facilities that are afforded by the new addition, the institution takes its rank with the very best in every respect. Simplicity, comfort and utility have been the ideas that have characterized the building and management of the institution. In its many years of usefulness since it was founded by Mrs. Albert Glockner in 1887, in memory of her husband, the institution has shown a steady growth. For a time the sanitarium was conducted under the supervision of a matron with Dr. B. P. Anderson the physician in charge. On August 15, 1892, it was deeded to the Sisters of Charity of Cincinnati, and has been conducted by them ever since. Sister Rose Alexius, the present sister superior, assumed charge in 1900, and since that time the work has been greatly extended. The hospital building was completed in 1903, at a cost of $25,000, and in October, 1905, St. Anthony's addition, which includes the surgical annex and operating room, as well as the heating and laundry plants, was completed. A tent annex was added soon afterward. On May 15, 1907, ground was broken for the new addition, the completion of which is to be celebrated today. The erection of this addition, which doubles the capacity of the institution, was made possible only by incurring a debt of $150,000, but the need was so urgent that the burden was cheerfully shouldered. The addition is in itself a large building, but so completely has the work of renovating the older portions been carried out that it is difficult for the casual observer to differentiate between the old and new sections of the sanitarium.

The New Addition.

The new addition contains, in addition to the 58 bedrooms and 28 sleeping porches—the latter being a distinctive feature of this sanitarium—a large reception room, offices for Sister Rose Alexius, private rooms for Dr. B. P. Anderson, the new chapel, general and private dining rooms, a billiard room and a complete culinary department, modern in every detail.

The chapel windows will be especially artistic, having been ordered from Munich. They will be in place before Christmas. Two of the windows have been donated by the Misses Jane and Kate Burns in memory of their father and mother, John and Ellen Burns. Another is given by William F. Carroll of this city, in memory of his daughter, Miss Martha Carroll. Another is in memory of Henry Boyce Clarke and a fifth is given by Miss Mary Maguire. The marble altar railing, which will come from Italy, is the gift of Mrs. James F. Burns, for her two children. The sanctuary lamp is the gift of Mrs. F. G. Peck, while the pews and stations have been given by the Misses Burns.

A number of the rooms have been furnished by prominent Colorado Springs people who are interested in the work of the Glockner sanitarium. One of these, in memory of Moses F. Kaufman, is fitted out in Circassian walnut, with blue trimmings, and has a sleeping porch adjoining. A room has been beautifully fitted out by Mrs. Seth Baker, in memory of her husband, Captain Seth Baker. The Misses Burns have furnished one room complete, even to the smallest detail, the finishings being in Circassian walnut, the draperies of silk cretonne and the bed of old-fashioned Napoleon style. General William J. Palmer has fitted out a room, with an adjoining sleeping porch, the appointments being marked by simplicity. Mrs. E. C. Goddard has furnished a room in birdseye maple. The Knights of Columbus have also fitted out a room in excellent style and taste. James F. Burns has fitted out the billiard room, providing very complete furnishings in every respect. The private dining room, adjoining the larger hall for the use of the patients, is completely and artistically furnished, this being through means of numerous gifts made by friends of the institution.

Charity Without Display.

Among the rooms in the new addition is a suite consisting of an office, bedroom, bath and smoking room, which are furnished most exquisitely and daintily and are intended as a beautiful tribute to Dr. B. P. Anderson by two patients who were at the Glockner last winter. The rooms are to be left as they are in perpetuity. These two patients are constantly seeking to do good without the least ostentation or display, and while their acts of charity are numerous and embrace all kinds and conditions of life, any publicity would be distasteful to them. Aside from these beautiful rooms to Dr. Anderson, they also furnished an office for Sister Rose Alexius, and also gave the sidewalks throughout the grounds. Besides all this they made a donation for the care of the poor and sick.

Dr. Anderson's suite consists of an office and sitting room, with a smoking room adjoining, a bedroom and a bathroom. The office and sitting room are finished in old rose and mahogany, with hangings to match. A feature of this room is the fireplace, with its rose-colored tiling. Furniture of simple elegance is tastefully arranged, from the desk chairs and beveled glass bookcases, to the dainty and exquisitely wrought solid silver breakfast set. No detail has been overlooked. The bedroom is in mahogany, with polished oak floor and oriental rugs and cretonne in keeping.

DR. ANDERSON'S PRIVATE SUITE

BILLIARD ROOM IN NEW GLOCKNER ADDITION.

Similar care and good taste were exercised in equipping the office room for Sister Rose. The choicest bric-a-brac has a place in the nichos and mantels. The general effect is in lighter colors, quarter-sawed oak with dull finish prevailing in the wood finishing. Here again the treasures of the far eastern weavers are shown. The appointments are perfect to the slightest detail, from the handsome oak desk to the tiny silver paper knife. A sleeping porch adjoins the office, which is also furnished in keeping.

In connection with the Glockner a nurses' training school is maintained, there being at the present time 20 nurses. This department is in charge of Miss Mullen, the superintendent, to whose direction is due much of the efficiency of the corps.

ANTLERS DISTRICT BOOMING

R. A. Nason Says Fruit Crop Is the Largest in the History of That District.

Bringing encouraging news from the western slope, R. A. Nason, for many years a resident of Colorado Springs, and now in the real estate business at Antlers, 22 miles west of Glenwood Springs, arrived here on a brief visit.

"The fruit crop around Antlers is fully 25 per cent heavier than last year," said Mr. Nason, "and is the largest in the history of that region, which has been producing fruit for 18 years. The late frost did practically no damage to the fruit, which consists chiefly of peaches and apples."

Mr. Nason, who was for five years in the money order department of Colorado Springs postoffice, is in the real estate business with J. W. Busard, who was also for many years in the local postoffice. The two men bought a large tract of land, plotted it into lots, and formed the present town of Antlers six months ago. Real estate is booming, according to Nason, and fruit lands, which last year advanced to $100 an acre, are now selling at $125 per acre.

NOT WASHBURN-CROSBY.

Makers of Gold Medal Flour Not Concerned in Minneapolis Receivership.

It should be understood that the Washburn-Crosby company, makers of GOLD MEDAL FLOUR, are in no way concerned with the recent Minneapolis flouring mill receivership. The slight similarity in names has led to some confusion.

One need have no fear that the GOLD MEDAL housewives, whose pictures have adorned the magazine and newspapers, will cease to appear. We shall see them the same as ever. And the Washburn-Crosby company continue to be the largest milling concern in the world.

Therefore, while the receivership in question is most unfortunate, it does not by any means concern all Minneapolis flour mills. The Washburn-Crosby company, makers of the widely advertised GOLD MEDAL FLOUR, shipped 8,000 cars last year more than their nearest competitor. And they are flourishing still.

TO SAVE THE WALTZ

When the dancing masters' convention took place in New York last year, all the delegates received a neatly-printed booklet giving a brief history of the waltz, with pictures of Lanner, Grieg, Weber, Strauss and other celebrated composers of waltz music. The little book also contained an appeal to the teachers of dancing to give their aid toward saving the waltz, which was threatened with abandonment. "If for no other reason than to save for the world the beautiful compositions which the waltz gave it and to encourage the production of similar works, let us save the waltz." The subject had the attention of the first international dance congress, which opened at Berlin on July 20, where representatives from 17 countries began their work by discussing measures to prevent the disappearance of the "most beautiful dance, which is threatened with extinction."

Not yet has the long skirt come to be accepted for other than dressy wear, yet the makers of fashion recommend it for more constant use, and the American women are adopting it slowly.

JUMPER PRINCESSE GOWNS SUGGEST THE MUCH-DISCUSSED SHEATH

Although in some quarters the typically Directoire gowns are likely to be adopted, conservative women will favor modifications of this new mode. What they chiefly desire is the short waist line without the absolutely tight fitting, clinging skirt. Some very stunning models of this kind have recently been developed in pongees and satin-surfaced cashmeres. Sometimes their skirts are absolutely plain; again they simulate tunic draperies or they are elaborately Persian or soutache embroidered. The jumper bodice on which such a skirt is built fits closely to the figure and is worn over a lace, chiffon or tucked guimpe having elbow or mousquetaire sleeves.

IS A TRYING SUMMER

The Season Marked by Exceptional And Continuous Heat.

From the New York Tribune.

The story of the present summer has evidently been told only in part. Normally the hot season culminates during the last ten days of July, and that of 1908, may, therefore, be regarded as merely half over. The part which has already elapsed, however, is so exceptional as to be noteworthy, quite regardless of any addition yet to be made to the record.

At the United States weather bureau in this city—and the conditions here are doubtless representative of those prevailing throughout a wide area in the East—the heat is shown to have been singularly continuous for several weeks. Ordinarily, extremely high or low temperatures in this vicinity seldom last more than three or four consecutive days, and are promptly followed by a reaction lasting for about the same length of time. This rule has been painfully disregarded of late.

Of the last 30 days only 5 have been cooler than the average for 33 years would lead one to expect; 3 have been at par, so to speak, and 22 have been abnormally hot. The coolness, such as it was, came in three installments, each so short as to afford only slight relief. Beginning with June 20, there was an unbroken succession of eighteen days, all hotter than the average for the corresponding days since the establishment of the national weather service.

Statistics concerning the wind are not yet available, but it does not seem possible that the popular opinion that the air has been peculiarly motionless for the last few days can be erroneous. Persons who have lived in New York city for a quarter of a century or more can remember how, night after night in summer, there would be a refreshing breeze from the south. It would penetrate houses with windows opening in the right direction from the front or rear, and with full opportunity given within for a draft to assert itself. That blessed experience has been almost utterly lacking this summer, and it has been most conspicuously absent when it was most needed.

An ounce of prevention beats a stack of doctors' bills.

What the Press Agents Say

GEORGIA MINSTRELS AT THE OPERA HOUSE

Judging from the record-breaking crowds which attended the Cameraphone Road Show at the Opera House yesterday afternoon and night, Colorado Springs loves a minstrel show and is especially fond of everything George M. Cohan writes. The mere announcement that the entire first part of a genuine old-time minstrel show, given by the Georgia minstrels on the Cameraphone, and that Fay Templeton's big song hit from "Forty-five Minutes From Broadway," "So Long, Mary," one of Cohan's best and most popular song hits, would be the headliners of the bill, was sufficient to draw out one of the largest audiences of the Cameraphone engagement at the Opera House this summer.

The bill this week, outside of these two star numbers, is exceptionally fine, and one that will please everybody. Marie Beauguarde, a fascinating girl, sings "My Irish Rosie" and "Hottentot Love Song" in a decidedly refreshing manner. Hughes and Sully, who will be remembered for the song hit and sketch of the first week's program of the Cameraphone in this city, "Arrah Wannah" are in the Cameraphone Road Show, giving another novelty, "I Don't Know Where I'm Going, but I'm on My Way." "Jack and Jill," Cohan's latest song hit from "Fifty Miles From Boston," is also on the bill. The balance of the numbers complete one of the best shows the Cameraphone company has yet offered theatergoers of this city. The illustrated song for the first half of the week is "The Mansion of Aching Hearts," which has some especially pretty slides.

The Cameraphone shows are continuous, running from 1:30 to 5:30 p. m. and from 7:30 to 10:30 p. m. Admission to any part of the house is only 10 cents, and the Cameraphone Road Show, as it is now being given, is undoubtedly the biggest bargain ever offered theatergoers for the small sum of 10 cents.

AT THE EMPIRE.

There have been many good shows at the Empire this season, but it is doubtful if any has the call on this week's bill. The show as a whole was very satisfactory to the large audiences that attended all performances. Without any exception each act on the program was a hit. Burns & Burns are, of course, the particular shining lights of the program in their unique act "Scenes in a Museum." Without question they have the most novel turn that has ever been staged at the Empire and the biggest laughing hit of the season. Special scenery, special electrical effects and special stage paraphernalia are used in the production. It is a whole show by itself. The act is such a peculiar one it is past the power of words to describe, and only seeing the wonderful work of these wonderful people can do justice to its description.

May and Lilly are vocal and instrumental entertainers of the first water. They are both finished musicians, one a pianist of more than ordinary ability, and the other a perfect master of the cello. They open their acts with a piano and cello number and follow with a pretty cello solo that won many encores. A tremendous reception was given them for their splendid finish, a bell-ringing number, five encores being demanded by the audience last night. Nellie Revell, "the girl who says things," held the stage for 20 minutes of solid laughter and might have stayed longer. She has a bright line of talk and a pleasing repertoire of new jokes that were fully appreciated by all. Her recitative number, with music, was a pretty thing, for which she received many recalls. Miss Revell is bound to become exceedingly popular at the Empire this week.

Miss Mandy Barackman sang "In Dear Old Colorado" in a most pleasing manner, and the program was made complete by two feature motion pictures, "A Gentleman Burglar" and "An Indian's Revenge." Both are far above the ordinary, and alone are worth the admission price to the Empire.

A FINE PROGRAM AT FAIRYLAND

One of the best programs seen for some time is being presented at Fairyland this afternoon and evening. The feature film is the very laughable picture, "A Jewel of a Servant." This is simply great and a treat for everyone who sees it. "The Curse of Drink" is a splendid drama picture, and a lesson can be learned from the story. A once kind and loving husband and father, through the influence of drink, becomes a raging fiend and maniac. Don't fail to see this interesting picture, and bring the children. Last, but by no means least, is one of Fairyland's famous beauty pictures, "Treasure Island." This is indeed a beautiful picture.

Jack Begley will sing the new song, "Baseball," which is making a decided hit. Special orchestra music. Doors open from 1 to 11 p. m.

BREAKING WILD HORSES.

The first claim to recognition as an institution for educating the unlearned in American history which the management makes for Buffalo Bill's Wild West and Congress of Rough Riders of the World is the very genuineness of it all. Everything concerned in the entertainment is as near authenticity as human ingenuity and the unrestricted expenditure of money can make it. Historic in its origin, Buffalo Bill's Wild West show has always maintained its established record for genuineness in all things.

It will therefore be interesting to lovers of horseflesh in all varieties to learn that there will be a display of broncho-busting during the progress of the exhibition, when Buffalo Bill and his big organization appears in this city. The art of broncho-busting has engaged the most daring members of the cowboy fraternity since the days when cowboys were first an established necessity in some features of western development. It is a most dangerous calling and many lives have been sacrificed in the conflict between the wild horse of the plains and the master hand which has attempted his subjection.

There need be no fear but what the broncho-busting in Buffalo Bill's Wild West will be an exact reproduction of the original article, for it will be the genuine thing, and every time a cowboy mounts his horse he will take a great risk of broken bones. The cowboys will be real cowboys brought from the western wilds, where they have plied their avocation of herding cattle and busting broncbos all their lives. The world is seeing practically the last of this picturesque type of Americans, for the fencing of the ranges is fast doing away with their occupation.

It has never been fully explained just why a broncho bucks, but many different theories have, of course, been advanced. It is said by some that they buck because of nervousness; by others because of fear; others genuine cussedness, and this theory is the most accepted. The methods they employ largely vary, but are generally along certain lines of bodily contortion. They will jump into the air and land on all four feet stiff-legged; some will jump to the left and then quickly to the right, some half turning in their flight and always kicking, snorting and bucking.

The cowboy retains his seat by his stirrup-hold; he withstands the swaying motion by moving his body, and he at all times urges the horse to run, for only then can he be said to be in any measure under control. The horse uses all methods to dislodge his rider, and if he succeeds he is always thereafter far more difficult to control than though he had never felt a saddle. Once he is subdued, however, the danger of his becoming unmanageable is minimized and he is a useful member of horsedom.

In Buffalo Bill's exhibition there are employed no theatrical devices of training to impel the broncbos to buck. They buck of their own free will and are evidently glad to do it. They have been picked from hundreds of buckers of the west and are experts in the uncomfortable art of making themselves disagreeable to those who attempt to ride them. One of the later developments of the Wild West organization is the introduction of cowgirls to perform, in a certain degree, the difficult feat of making a bucking horse submit to their mastery. These girls are experts, too, and, like all other features with Buffalo Bill's organization, they are genuine types of western character, real true to life, practical cowgirls.

BOSTON'S MAN OF MUSCLE

Handles Bales of Hay and Barrels of Flour With Great Ease.

From the Boston Globe.

For downright strength few men can equal Antonio Perry, a general man employed by the Charles Lawrence company, who is called the fastest banana packer in Boston. Antonio, who is better known as "Tony" throughout the district, was born in the island of Flores, in the Azores group, which is under Portuguese jurisdiction. He has the dark skin of the Latin races, but he is a pretty good Yankee after living in America 19 years.

To look at Tony as you pass him in the street you would think he was a man of good physique, without extraordinary strength. But that is where Tony would deceive the average man. His weight is 175 pounds and he is five feet seven inches tall, but he is a mass of muscle, and no task seems too hard for him. Tony was 35 years old last May, and he looks the picture of health and has a cheerful, sunny disposition. The most he ever weighed was 190.

It is difficult to tell in words what Tony can do, for when you do tell it the things seem easy. Tony can tier bales of hay four high without assistance. That sounds easy, but when you come to lift a bale of hay weighing 250 pounds up as high as your head and put it on three other bales, it requires unusual strength. But Tony does this and other things just as difficult.

One day some one was jollying Tony about his strength and said: "Why, you couldn't carry a barrel of flour across the street." That remark nettled Tony, and he replied with some spirit: "I couldn't eh? Well, I bet you the price of a barrel of flour that I can carry a barrel of flour on my back from here to the ferry and from the ferry on the other side to my home in east Boston."

That offer, called for a take-up or a backdown, and the wager accordingly was made. Tony lives at 101 Liverpool street, east Boston, and he had no difficulty in triumphantly carrying the flour to his home. "I tried to get the same man to bet me that I couldn't carry two barrels strapped together, but he wouldn't do it," said Tony, when speaking of the incident.

Tony says he never saw anything yet that any other man was willing to take hold of that he wouldn't tackle.

CARE OF LACES.

From the Chicago News.

Real laces rarely are washed, because they are almost sure to thicken slightly, and they require careful handling to make them appear like new. When not in use fine laces should be kept in powdered magnesia, between folds of blue tissue paper.

Wash white lace in warm water with white soap and a little ammonia added. Soak it for an hour and then use fresh water. Do not rub, but squeeze in soap lather, and thus get the dirt out.

If yellow put soapy water over the lace and set in the sun for a day or two. When it is clean rinse thoroughly. If you wish the lace cream color add strong coffee to the last rinsing water and if you wish it white add a little bluing.

To give lace the body it had when new stiffen it in gum arabic water, made by dissolving a piece of gum arabic the size of a pea in one pint of boiling water.

Lay the lace between dry cloths to absorb the moisture, then clap it until nearly dry and pull it into shape and pin it on to flannel, straight and true.

Be sure that each point is in shape and that every loop of the pearl edge has a pin to hold it in place.

MEMORIAL TO CASTELAR

Writing from Madrid, a tourist says in a Munich paper, "A new object of art and beauty has been added to the city. It is the memorial to Castelar, one of the masterpieces of the great Beulliures. It shows the little form of the great orator standing at his place in the legislative hall, with right hand raised on high, the attitude he often assumed while delivering a forceful sentence. At his left, listening intently, stands a beautiful female figure, typifying Spain. Demosthenes and Cicero have also come to hear him speak, and two other figures representing the army and the students, also look with interest toward the central figure. On one side of the monument is a relief showing Castelar's activity in the movement against slavery in the Spanish colonies, and over all there are three gracefully entwined female figures, representing Liberty, Equality and Fraternity."

OPENS EXTENSION OF LITTLE CLARA

VEIN ON ADJACENT CLAIMS LOOKS GOOD.

Monarch Mountain and North Star Properties Have Valuable Ore Exposed.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Aug. 17.—A flat vein from three to five feet thick and of a width not yet determined, has been encountered on the north end of the Mountain Monarch and North Star claims, on Raven hill, owned by the Roxanna Gold Mining company and operated under lease by the Union Leasing company. The quartz is identical with that from the Little Clara flat vein, and the lead is believed to be the extension of that famous ore body. A trial shipment is being prepared, and is estimated at four-ounce ore.

Smith and Altman, lessees on the Howard shaft of the Mary McKinney Mining company, loaded out a two-car shipment yesterday. The ore, consisting of coarse rock and screenings, was mined at the 250-foot level of this Gold hill mine, and is estimated to average $35 a ton.

Sherwood Aldrich of Colorado Springs, chairman of the executive board of the Cripple Creek drainage tunnel, visited the scene of operations yesterday. The work under the Carlton contract is progressing rapidly. A slight change in the character of the granite has been noticed in the last few rounds of drilling; and the progress made is showing gains.

TEN YEARS IN BED

"For ten years I was confined to my bed with disease of my kidneys," writes R. A. Gray, J. P. of Oakville, Ind. "It was so severe that I could not move part of the time. I consulted the very best medical skill available but could get no relief until Foley's Kidney Cure was recommended to me. It has been a God-send to me." For sale by all dealers.

MABEL M. HAS A 12-FOOT ORE VEIN

LESSEES PUSH WORK ON PROPERTY.

Several Other Claims Show Up Satisfactorily and Output Is Increased.

VICTOR, Aug. 17.—A flat vein 12 feet thick and carying values of one ounce gold to the ton and upwards, encountered at the 400-foot level of the Mabel M. of the Gold Dollar Consolidated company, is under development by the leasers, and the production from the mine will soon be materially increased. The vein carries an easterly course, and was cut while the management was carrying a drift on the vertical lode.

An electric plant and compressor will be installed the latter end of the week on the Bonnie Nell shaft, on the eastern slope of Raven hill. The property is owned by the Bonnie Nell Merger Gold Mining company, and is to be operated exclusively on company account.

A contract was let last week to Roberts and associates of this city for the retimbering of the shaft, where necessary, and the contractors, after cleaning out the old workings, report a large body of oxidized ore exposed. The property has lain idle for years.

The work of retimbering the first 100 feet of the Elkton main shaft has been completed, and work has been resumed with a full force. The Elkton management will continue to operate with one shaft six days each week.

BATHING AN INDIAN GOD.

From the Calcutta Statesman.

Thousands of pilgrims from the various outlying villages and other parts of the Hooghly district poured in from an early hour in the morning to the temples of Jagernath.

The image of the god is placed on a conspicuous part of the temple, so that it can be viewed at an advantage by the immense crowd of pilgrims, and there at a certain fixed hour the bathing ceremony commences.

The most curious part of the festival is that water is not poured on the image of the god until a certain small bird is found sitting on the topmost banner of the temple. There is a popular belief that the bird comes from Puri, the famous place of the Hindu pilgrimage, to Mahesh, on the day of this festival, and his very presence is an indication that the ceremony should commence. Immediately after the bath is over the bird disappears.

DEALERS TAKE PROFIT

OFFERINGS TOO HEAVY FOR WHEAT MARKET.

Lack of Outside Support Gives Duller Tone to Pit and Prices Slump.

CHICAGO, Aug. 17.—With favorable weather for harvesting, the belief that the northwestern movement will be early and heavy took a stronger hold on many wheat traders on the local exchange, and they eagerly took profits or sold for short account. The offerings were too much for a market without any great amount of outside speculative support, and consequently a decidedly heavier feeling prevailed from start to finish. At the low point prices were from 1⅝ to 1⅞ below the best marks for the day. Extreme weakness of the Minneapolis and Duluth markets, which apparently confirmed the good crop reports, gave additional impetus to the declining tendency here. There was a moderate rally from the low point, but the close was weak. September opened ½@¾ lower to a shade higher, at 92⅞ to 93⅛, declined to 91¼ and closed at 91¾. Primary receipts were 1,066,000 bushels, compared with 1,055,000 bushels the corresponding day a year ago.

Ideal weather generally forced free selling of that cereal at the start and resulted in a moderate decline. The slump in wheat also inspired some selling, but a number of damage reports from central and southern Illinois and from Missouri tended to offset this influence. The close was weak. September opened ½@⅝ lower, at 75⅛@¾ to 75¼, sold between 75⅛ and 75⅝ and closed at 75¼.

Oats opened easy in sympathy with wheat and corn, but later the market rallied on a good shipping demand and on reports that farmers are stacking their oats rather than selling at prevailing prices. Oats at the sample table were ½ to ⅝ higher. The market closed firm. September opened ⅛@¼ to ½@⅝ lower, at 45⅜ to 45⅝, advanced to 46½ and closed at 46¾.

Provisions were firm early in the day, but weakened owing to the break in corn and wheat. At the close September pork was unchanged, at $15 07½. Lard was 2½ lower, at $8 27½. Ribs were 5@7½ lower, at $6.77½.

PRICES ARE VARIABLE

SPECULATION IRREGULAR AND TONE UNCERTAIN.

General Belief Is That Stocks Are Gradually Passing Into Strong Hands.

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—Irregularity was the most conspicuous feature of today's stock market. Prices rose and fell alternately mostly within narrow range, although some of the more active features registered substantial gains at the opening. The trading bore evidence of bear pressure and general professionalism, although close observers expressed the opinion that stocks are gradually passing into stronger hands. This belief appears to be based largely on the operations of certain prominent banking and brokerage houses, as well as on the continued ease of money, further prospects of good crops and advices from the leading railroad centers, which almost uniformly report indications of awakening business. At the moment, however, it can not be said that traffic is more than holding its own, but the trunk lines are well supplied with cars and are making ready for the prospective improvement. Quite the most important development of the day in railway circles was the publication of the reports of the Harriman lines for the fiscal year. The Union Pacific system showed a net loss compared with the previous year of about $2,170,000, while the Southern Pacific railway reported a net decrease for the same period of $8,363,000.

In both instances, however, the falling off was largely due to increased taxes, that item in the Union Pacific statement being 17 59 per cent greater than in 1906-7, and Southern Pacific 36 36 per cent greater. Both lines show material gains in net earnings for the month of June. The pessimistic utterances of the Rock Island-Frisco system dealing with general railroad conditions, in which the statement was made that 400,000 men are out of employment, excited some interest, but did not have a serious effect. As a whole, the dealers held comparatively firm, though Reading was frequently subjected to pressure.

Smelting led the industrial stocks, making a sharp recovery from Saturday's close, and the coppers moved in sympathy despite another cut in the price of the metals. The declaration of a $6 dividend, presumably for the quarter, though not so stated by the Standard Oil company of New Jersey, in place of a previous disbursement of $9, was the only noteworthy feature of the outside. The vagaries of a well-known market manipulator from New England caused some uneasiness in conservative quarters, but elsewhere they were the subject of good-natured ridicule.

Much the greater part of the day's business was done in the early session, trading becoming very restricted in the afternoon, while the list developed a heavy undertone. In the last half, however under the lead of St. Paul, Smelting and Reading, the market grew strong and the closing was active at the day's best prices. The local money market ruled steady and dull, with no change in the rate for time accommodations and a very slight demand for call loans at 1 per cent.

Government bonds unchanged on call.

The general bond market was easy. Total sales, par value, $1,131,000.

POLICEMEN CARRY ALARM CLOCKS.

From the Philadelphia Record.

A resident of the southern part of West Philadelphia, who was walking along Fifty-second street about 4 o'clock the other morning, was startled by the ringing of a bell. It sounded just like an alarm clock, but it seemed to come from the porch instead of from inside one of the houses. The porch was hidden by vines, and the early pedestrian could not see what was going on behind them. As he got farther down the street, however, he looked back and observed two policemen descending from the porch, brushing off their uniforms. One of them carried the alarm clock, and both looked as though they had just awakened from deep slumber. In explaining to his friends the West Philadelphian said: "I always knew that cops snoozed on night duty, but that's the first time I ever heard of them using alarm clocks to wake them up so they can go to the police street box and report into the station at the proper hour."

Pompadour ribbons applied as skirt borders and waist decorations make a delightful trimming for a dress.

Prosperity

Persistent saving leads to prosperity. An excellent method of saving is to carefully lay aside some small amount each week or month, and place it at interest with THE ASSURANCE SAVINGS AND LOAN ASSOCIATION. The fund thus accumulated will draw 4 per cent interest, compounded semi-annually. For further particulars inquire at the office, 105 E. Kiowa St.

PHILADELPHIA'S BIG FARM.

From the Kansas City Journal.
Philadelphia has gone in for agriculture on a big scale, and the city expects to show a profit of $45,000 on the venture before the snow flies. At first the municipality owns a farm of 500 acres, the site having been [illegible] for a new hospital for the insane. There isn't enough available for the new buildings, so the authorities are working the land for all it is worth. The planting and cultivating have been done entirely by the insane patients from the West Philadelphia asylum.
